Rebels Seize 5 Cities

Recognition Asked For Former Chief Of Arab Republic

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Friday) (AP)—Ex-President Gen Adib Shishekly of Syria, overthrown by his army yesterday, arrived in Beirut by automobile shortly after midnight with his brother and adjutant. All took refuge in the Saudi Arabian legation.

DAMASCUS, Syria (Friday) (AP)— President Adib Shishekly, Syria's bullet-dodging President, resigned late last night because an Army revolt had threatened the country with bloodshed.

The diminutive President who headed a military coup in 1951 was reported to have left the country.

The rebels began broadcasting claims of having engineered a successful revolution early yesterday from Aleppo in the northern part of the country. They gave Shishekly 24 hours to get over the border.

Shishekly

The leaders called for recognition of former President Hachem Bey Attassi, whose regime crumpled in 1951, as the lawful new President.

In Damascus, however, it was understood the speaker of the Assembly would assume the interim presidency until a new president is elected. Shishekly, elected President only last June, resigned in a letter to the speaker of the Assembly in which he said he was quitting "to prevent bloodshed among the people and army I so much love, and I consider this action a service to my country."

Gen. Shawkat Shukeyr, chief of the general staff, issued an appeal to the nation to keep calm. He declared the army is "one indivisible unit in the country's defense."

The first reports said the rebels seized five cities, including Aleppo, the country's largest.

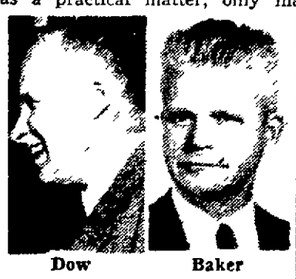
The report over the Aleppo radio said "our Arab people rejoice in the overthrow of the despot (Shishekly)." It said troops from that city and Syria's northern districts had seized Aleppo and declared open revolt under the leadership of Col. Mustafa Hammoud.

Faculty Group Backs Regents Publicity Stand

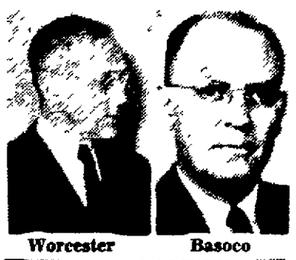
Practicality Cited As Reason For Private Chancellorship Screening

A special committee of the University of Nebraska faculty has announced it is standing with University regents on the policy of not releasing during the period of preliminary talks the names of men the regents are contacting about the chancellorship.

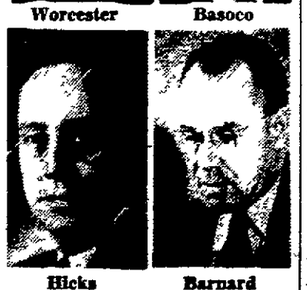
"Such publicity," the committee's statement said, "does not aid in obtaining the interest of a maximum number of good men and, as a practical matter, only makes more difficult the task of selection."



Dow Baker



Worcester Basoco



Hicks Barnard

The committee was appointed by the University Senate, official faculty body, last spring to make recommendations concerning persons the regents are considering for the office of chancellor.

Members of the committee are: Prof. C. M. Hicks, committee chairman, and chairman of the department of business organization and management; Dr. M. A. Basoco, professor of mathematics and chairman of the department; Marvel L. Baker, professor of animal husbandry and associate director of the agriculture experiment station; Niles A. Barnard, professor of mechanical engineering and chairman of the department; Dr. D. A. Worcester, professor of educational psychology and measurements and chairman of the department; and David Dow, professor of law.

Agree With Regents

The committee's statement:

"The Special Committee of the university faculty appointed by the University Senate on invitation of the University of Nebraska Regents to co-operate with them in their task of selecting a chancellor, agrees with the Regents that their initial inquiry into the fitness of persons under consideration for the chancellorship should be conducted without publicity.

"It is the Committee's opinion that such publicity does not aid in obtaining the interest of a maximum number of good men, and, as a practical matter, only makes more difficult the task of selection.

"We will continue to co-operate with the Board of Regents. We have already screened a large number of names and are continuing this work. Some of these persons have been recommended to the Board of Regents while others, in our opinion, do not fulfill the qualifications needed for the chancellorship.

"We are aware that the Board is now engaged in arranging meetings with men recommended to it by the Committee. The Committee believes these meetings should proceed unhampered by publicity."

The Lincoln Star has made clear its willingness to co-operate with the Board of Regents in its search for a new chancellor.

The following is quoted from a recent editorial:

"This newspaper believes in open meetings of the Board of Regents. It believes that, admitted to open meetings, when a spokesman for the board indicates that a development which has not gone beyond the flimsiest of preliminary stages should be held in confidence, then common sense newspaper conduct suggests there is nothing unreasonable about that request. It takes from the public nothing of importance or value to the public, but, on the contrary, it is of the highest concern to sound public interest. . .

"The board has but one mission, and that is to get the best chancellor for the University of Nebraska circumstances permit. If it cannot invite men to this campus without having them photographed and labeled, then it ought to tell about the embarrassment in which it finds itself. This newspaper stands ready and willing to co-operate with the Board of Regents within common sense and reason."

Winds, High Temps Slated For Friday

Spring is slated to return to Nebraska Friday. Strong winds—a couple days too early to classify as the March variety—and temperatures near the 60 degree mark are forecast for the state.

The Weather Bureau said the highest temperatures would be in the southwest with highs of 50 in the northeast.

The forecast also calls for winds shifting to northerly and cooler temperatures by nightfall. The possibility of brief showers in the afternoon or evening also exists, but the weather man doesn't expect any wet snow like that which saturated the northeastern corner of the state Thursday morning.

Iowa seemed to get the lion's share of the snow after the storm left Nebraska.

The storm varied in intensity there and piled up the greater depths in an area from Marshalltown to Cedar Rapids where the fall measured from 10 to 18 inches unofficially.

Laurel seemed to be the center of the Nebraska storm area with more than six inches reported on the ground. Hard surfaced roads remained open but gravel roads were a mire of mud.

Wayne reported five inches of snow, with two inches at Fremont and Omaha and one inch at Norfolk.

Brothers Separated 20 Years Reunited In Ward At Hospital

The dramatic meeting of two brothers who said they had not seen each other for 20 years has taken place in Ward B of the University of Nebraska Hospital in Omaha.

Bert Travis, 75, of Loup City, and his brother Willard, 73, of Aurora, have been living only 98 miles from each other all this time—but have been "just too busy" to get together.

Admitted to University Hospital for the removal of a cataract on his left eye, Willard discovered Bert had been admitted just eight days earlier for exactly the same operation on his right eye. Neither was aware of the other's ailment and pending visit to the Hospital.

Bert was in the variety store business until he retired 14 years ago, and Willard was employed by a cleaning establishment. They are natives of Aurora.

Democratic Campaign Meeting Set

Mitchell To Keynote March 12 Conference

Democratic party leaders will set the wheels of their 1954 campaign rolling at a pre-primary conference at the Cornhusker Hotel Friday, March 12.

Stephen Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will be the keynote speaker and will adress both the noon conferences and the banquet in the evening.

Neal Smith, national chairman of the Young Democrats of America, will also attend the pre-primary conference, according to an announcement made by State Chairman Don Knutzen.

Smith will meet with the Young Democrats State Executive Committee, the Lancaster County and the University of Nebraska Clubs. Young Democrats have been invited to participate in planning the event.

A feature of the conference will be a birthday pilgrimage to the William Jennings Bryan statue on the State Capitol grounds. National committeewoman Mary Cunningham of Rulo is in charge of the pilgrimage.

Miss Cunningham and Mrs. George Truman of Omaha, state chairwoman, are in charge of the womans' part of the conference.

"We feel that we have the best chance for success this year of any in the past dozen years," State Chairman William H. Meier of Minden said in calling the conference. "We have received assurances that vote-getting candidates will run this year if we get our organization into shape."

Co-operating with Meier in calling the meeting were National Committeeman Bernard J. Boyle of Omaha, Miss Cunningham, Mrs. Truman, and Willard Townsend of Lincoln, executive vice-chairman.

In charge of a fund raising panel will be Leo Beck of Lincoln, Democratic state treasurer, Paul Busch of Howells, and Townsend. All county Democratic treasurers will also take part.

Boyle will preside at a forum which will recommend candidates for state and congressional offices.

Meier has invited members of the state Central Committee, chairmen and vice-chairmen of the four congressional districts and of each of Nebraska's 93 county organizations.

Omaha Man Held For Selling Stock Without License

OMAHA (AP)—An Omaha man Thursday was being held for Lincoln authorities who have three warrants charging him with selling oil stock without a license.

He was identified as Otto M. Campbell, 57, of 111 South 33rd street, Omaha, and booked as a fugitive from justice.

Detectives said the warrants list three persons to whom Campbell allegedly sold oil stock. The persons were not fully identified.

Campbell has an office in the downtown Omaha area, according to detectives.

Deputy County Attorney Elmer Scheele said the complaints were filed in Lancaster County court Thursday afternoon, and involved incidents in 1951 and an Oklahoma oil lease.

Scheele said the complaints were filed at the request of the state banking department.

Senator-Pentagon Peace Pact Try Ends In Failure

Secretary Declares, With 100% Backing Of Ike, He Will 'Never Accede To Abuse' Of Army Men

HUDDLE AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Stevens, with the support of President Eisenhower, declared Thursday night he will "never accede" to any brow-beating of Army personnel.

Senator McCarthy, rejecting the idea that he had abused anyone, promptly served notice he would prosecute his investigations "vigorously."

Stevens issued his statement at the White House a day of huddling with high officials, including Eisenhower. The Army chief obviously was stung by the practically universal belief that his "peace pact" the previous day with McCarthy was a surrender to the Wisconsin Republican senator.

The White House declared Eisenhower had read the Stevens statement and "approves and endorses it 100 per cent."

The McCarthy-Stevens feud promptly erupted anew. McCarthy accused the Army chief of making "a completely false statement."

RECEIVED ASSURANCE

Stevens said that at his meeting with McCarthy and other members of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee Wednesday he had received assurance that "abuse" of witnesses would not be premitted in the future.

These assurances did not appear in the previous day's "peace pact" and Stevens did not mention them until Thursday night. Labelling Stevens' statement about the assurances "completely false," McCarthy said:

"Absolutely no concession was made that any witness was abused."

He said that to promise not to abuse them in the future would amount to admitting that they had been abused in the past.

"We made it very clear," the senator said, "that any witness from the Army or anywhere else, if he is not frank and truthful, will be vigorously examined to get the truth about Communist activities.

"If it will be unpleasant to tell the truth, I can't be responsible."

These latest turns in the McCarthy-Stevens feud came shortly after Republican leaders on Capitol Hill failed in agitated efforts to write a new "peace pact" modifying the McCarthy-Stevens truce reached Wednesday.

ALL-DAY CONFERENCES

The move by key GOP figures was apparently designed to take some of the sting out of Stevens' feeling that he had been given the rough edge in the "surrender" episode.

Hurried all-day conferences at the White House, on Capitol Hill and at the Pentagon had signalled earlier that some move was impending in an effort to heal the breach.

Stevens himself had denied reports that he had asked the White House for a public expression of support from President Eisenhower and would resign if it was not forthcoming.

Nevertheless, the White House became the forum for Stevens' statement, in which he said: "I shall never accede to the abuse of Army personnel under any circumstances, including committee hearings, I shall never accede to their being browbeaten or humiliated."

Full Backing

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, emphasizing that Stevens had the backing of the President, said:

"He (Eisenhower) has seen the statement. He approves and endorses it 100 per cent."

With Hagerty standing at his elbow, Stevens parried a barrage of questions from newsmen. Several times Hagerty motioned him not to reply.

Noting Stevens's statement that Wednesday's "memorandum of understanding" with McCarthy had been "misinterpreted," newsmen asked how it had been misconstrued. Stevens kept silent as Hagerty gestured to him not to answer.

"Are you going to continue as Secretary of the Army?" a reporter asked.

Before Stevens could answer, Hagerty broke in.

"I'll answer that. Of course."

Stevens declined to say why the "assurances" of no further "abusive" treatment of army witnesses had not been written into Wednesday's agreement, negotiated with McCarthy and three other GOP members of the Senate Subcommittee.

Later, on his return to the Pentagon, he was asked again about the lack of a written pledge about the "assurances."

Not His Idea

"I guess I didn't handle it too well," Stevens said.

Stevens, in his statement, emphasized that it was not his idea to cancel Thursday's scheduled "showdown" with McCarthy before a nationwide TV audience, which had been all set up.

He said he agreed to the cancellation because of the subcommittee's "assurances," and he declared:

"If it had not been for those assurances, I would never have entered into any agreement whatsoever. I want to make it perfectly clear that should such abuses occur in any quarter in the future, I shall once again take steps at my disposal to protect the rights of any individuals in this department."

It was Stevens' action in forbidding two Army generals to obey subpoenas from the McCarthy Subcommittee that led McCarthy to invite Stevens to a face-to-face showdown on the issue.

Rural RC Nets $3,384

A Red Cross rural report rally announced Thursday evening in Lincoln that 23 towns and 24 precincts in Lancaster county outside of Lincoln contributed $3,384 to the 1954 Red Cross drive.

Rural chairman Richard Lefferdink said that some of the contribution reports would not be in for another week. The first report was $1,601 short of the announced goal of $5,895.

More than 300 persons who solicited Red Cross funds as captains and workers from the rural areas attended the banquet-rally at the Scottish Rite temple at 15th and L Streets.

Housewife Injured In 5-Car Crash

Mrs. Phyllis Horwath, 25 of 6201 Fremont, a housewife, was treated for severe lacerations of the lower lip and chest bruises at Bryan Memorial Hospital after being injured in a five-car crash Thursday evening on O Street between 38th and 39th Streets.

She was later released.

Mrs. Phyllis Horvath, 25 of with the car ahead of her and that car collided with a car ahead of it. Simultaneously two cars behind her collided in the same fashion.

Four autos were badly damaged.

Iowa Killing Said 'Solved'

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—Chief of Detectives Harry Gibbon Friday night announced that a Sioux City man has signed a statement admitting participating in the holdup-slaying of William Edwards, 51, Mondamin farmer.

He identified the man only as a "Sioux City man now in custody".

Gibbons told a news conference he could not divulge the man's name at this time, nor could he furnish additional details.

The investigation which led to solution of the Monday night slaying, Gibbons said, was a joint effort of the sheriff at Logan, the Sioux City police department, the Woodbury County sheriff, the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and South Dakota authorities.

Chief R. W. Nebergall of the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation, confirming that the case had been solved, said the investigation involved "real co-operation of all the agencies involved."

He added that the reason the name of the confessed man could not be divulged was that "we still have a lot of work to do on the case".

Smaller State Legislatures, Committee Streamlining Urged By Study Group; Unicameral Backed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A major overhaul of state legislatures was proposed Thursday by a 12-member study committee of the American Political Science Association.

Some of the legislative powers would be transferred to local governmental units, and automatic redistricting would be required, to eliminate "over-representation" of rural areas.

Reporting on a four-year survey, the committee also recommended stricter control of lobbyists and a "code of ethics" for the present 7,600 state legislators.

The group put in a good word for the unicameral or one-house legislature—now operating only in Nebraska—and favored smaller legislatures and a streamlining of committees.

The study committee was made up of professors of political science and national and state legislative experts. Its chairman was Professor Belle Zeller of Brooklyn College.

The study's results are compiled in a 294-page book published by Thomas Y. Crowell Co.

The book calls the modernization of state legislatures "the most important piece of unfinished business in the area of government reorganization."

It says these bodies now are "poorly equipped to serve as policy-making agencies in mid-20th Century America," but that they can and should be made to function as "dynamic, co-ordinate, efficient, policy-formulating bodies."

The growth and complexity of state functions, as well as the new burdens created by grants-in-aid and other federal-state relationships, say the experts, have created problems which cannot be met adequately by "the old-fashioned time-consuming legislative procedures, antiquated organization, inadequate and incompetent staff services."

The committee found the committee systems "archaic, not having changed in most states in any important respect for 50 or a 100 years—or more." Also, "rules of procedure that antedate the invention of the printing press still prevail in many jurisdictions," and some legislative bodies still continue to consume from one-fourth to one-third of their session time in roll calls.

To improve the situation in such areas, the committee recommended a substantial reduction in the number of standing committees (state houses now average 32 and senates 25) and the assignment to each committee of a broad area of legislation. It also proposed recoding of rules of procedure to make them "conducive to orderly and effective deliberation."

Here are a few of the more important recommendations:

1—Repeal of the socalled "statutory" sections of state constitution which prescribe major policy or details of administration, and delegation of such powers with proper safeguards to the legislature or executive department.

2—Automatic reappointment of seats in both houses after each decennial census. This should be done by a special administrative agency outside the legislature.

The committee also favored election of members by districts with equal populations, no gerrymandering (drawing of irregular boundary lines to give one political party an advantage), and lines drawn to permit a wide representation of interests.

3—Re-examination of arguments for bicameralism (two-house legislature) in the "supposed checks and safeguards are more or less illusory."

The one-house legislature, established in 1937 in Nebraska, has proved successful, it was stated. Although unicameralism is not a panacea for legislative ills, the committee said, a single house "seems a more logical framework" upon which to hang any improvements that might be considered to remove practical objections to the bicameral form.

4—Reduction in the size of state legislatures, but not below 40 members for a lower house or for a unicameral body, and with a ratio of one senator to three representatives. Present range for house memberships is from 35 in Delaware to 399 in New Hampshire for state senates, 17 in Delaware and Nevada to 67 in Minnesota. Nebraska's unicameral Legislature has 43 members, all known as senators.

5—Retention of the initiative and referendum where they now exist—in about 20 states—but only as "weapons of popular control when representative action appears to be blocked."

6—A special commission to develop a "code of ethics" for legislators to clarify their responsibility and to "pave the way for popular demands for restraint upon interests seeking special favors."

Members of the study group, besides Miss Zeller of Brooklyn College, were Daniel Axelrod, New York state budget bureau; Prof. Mona Fletcher, Kent State University, Kent, O.; Dr. W. Brooke Graves, Library of Congress legislative reference service; Dr. Frederic H. Guild, Kansas Legislative Council; Prof. Joseph P. Harris, University of California; Prof. Lashley G. Harvey, Boston University; Dr. Jack F. Isakoff, Illinois Legislative Council; Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Deleware; Prof. Charles W. Shull, Wayne University, Detroit; Prof. Richard C. Spencer, Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Ia., Prof. O'Douglas Weeks, University of Texas.

Faculty Group Backs Regents Publicity Stand

Practicality Cited As Reason For Private Chancellorship Screening

A special committee of the University of Nebraska faculty has announced it is standing with University regents on the policy of not releasing during the period of preliminary talks the names of men the regents are contacting about the chancellorship.

"Such publicity," the committee's statement said, "does not aid in obtaining the interest of a maximum number of good men and, as a practical matter, only makes more difficult the task of selection."

The committee was appointed by the University Senate, official faculty body, last spring to make recommendations concerning persons the regents are considering for the office of chancellor.

Members of the committee are: Prof. C. M. Hicks, committee chairman, and chairman of the department of business organization and management; Dr. M. A. Basoco, professor of mathematics and chairman of the department; Marvel L. Baker, professor of animal husbandry and associate director of the agriculture experiment station; Niles A. Barnard, professor of mechanical engineering and chairman of the department; Dr. D. A. Worcester, professor of educational psychology and measurements and chairman of the department; and David Dow, professor of law.

Agree With Regents

The committee's statement:

"The Special Committee of the university faculty appointed by the University Senate on invitation of the University of Nebraska Regents to co-operate with them in their task of selecting a chancellor, agrees with the Regents that their initial inquiry into the fitness of persons under consideration for the chancellorship should be conducted without publicity.

"It is the Committee's opinion that such publicity does not aid in obtaining the interest of a maximum number of good men, and, as a practical matter, only makes more difficult the task of selection.

"We will continue to co-operate with the Board of Regents. We have already screened a large number of names and are continuing this work. Some of these persons have been recommended to the Board of Regents while others, in our opinion, do not fulfill the qualifications needed for the chancellorship.

"We are aware that the Board is now engaged in arranging meetings with men recommended to it by the Committee. The Committee believes these meetings should proceed unhampered by publicity."

The Lincoln Star has made clear its willingness to co-operate with the Board of Regents in its search for a new chancellor.

The following is quoted from a recent editorial:

"This newspaper believes in open meetings of the Board of Regents. It believes that, admitted to open meetings, when a spokesman for the board indicates that a development which has not gone beyond the flimsiest of preliminary stages should be held in confidence, then common sense newspaper conduct suggests there is nothing unreasonable about that request. It takes from the public nothing of importance or value to the public, but, on the contrary, it is of the highest concern to sound public interest. . .

"The board has but one mission, and that is to get the best chancellor for the University of Nebraska circumstances permit. If it cannot invite men to this campus without having them photographed and labeled, then it ought to tell about the embarrassment in which it finds itself. This newspaper stands ready and willing to co-operate with the Board of Regents within common sense and reason."

Winds, High Temps Slated For Friday

Spring is slated to return to Nebraska Friday. Strong winds—a couple days too early to classify as the March variety—and temperatures near the 60 degree mark are forecast for the state.

The Weather Bureau said the highest temperatures would be in the southwest with highs of 50 in the northeast.

The forecast also calls for winds shifting to northerly and cooler temperatures by nightfall. The possibility of brief showers in the afternoon or evening also exists, but the weather man doesn't expect any wet snow like that which saturated the northeastern corner of the state Thursday morning.

Iowa seemed to get the lion's share of the snow after the storm left Nebraska.

The storm varied in intensity there and piled up the greater depths in an area from Marshalltown to Cedar Rapids where the fall measured from 10 to 18 inches unofficially.

Laurel seemed to be the center of the Nebraska storm area with more than six inches reported on the ground. Hard surfaced roads remained open but gravel roads were a mire of mud.

Wayne reported five inches of snow, with two inches at Fremont and Omaha and one inch at Norfolk.

Brothers Separated 20 Years Reunited In Ward At Hospital

The dramatic meeting of two brothers who said they had not seen each other for 20 years has taken place in Ward B of the University of Nebraska Hospital in Omaha.

Bert Travis, 75, of Loup City, and his brother Willard, 73, of Aurora, have been living only 98 miles from each other all this time—but have been "just too busy" to get together.

Admitted to University Hospital for the removal of a cataract on his left eye, Willard discovered Bert had been admitted just eight days earlier for exactly the same operation on his right eye. Neither was aware of the other's ailment and pending visit to the Hospital.

Bert was in the variety store business until he retired 14 years ago, and Willard was employed by a cleaning establishment. They are natives of Aurora.

Democratic Campaign Meeting Set

Mitchell To Keynote March 12 Conference

Democratic party leaders will set the wheels of their 1954 campaign rolling at a pre-primary conference at the Cornhusker Hotel Friday, March 12.

Stephen Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will be the keynote speaker and will adress both the noon conferences and the banquet in the evening.

Neal Smith, national chairman of the Young Democrats of America, will also attend the pre-primary conference, according to an announcement made by State Chairman Don Knutzen.

Smith will meet with the Young Democrats State Executive Committee, the Lancaster County and the University of Nebraska Clubs. Young Democrats have been invited to participate in planning the event.

A feature of the conference will be a birthday pilgrimage to the William Jennings Bryan statue on the State Capitol grounds. National committeewoman Mary Cunningham of Rulo is in charge of the pilgrimage.

Miss Cunningham and Mrs. George Truman of Omaha, state chairwoman, are in charge of the womans' part of the conference.

"We feel that we have the best chance for success this year of any in the past dozen years," State Chairman William H. Meier of Minden said in calling the conference. "We have received assurances that vote-getting candidates will run this year if we get our organization into shape."

Co-operating with Meier in calling the meeting were National Committeeman Bernard J. Boyle of Omaha, Miss Cunningham, Mrs. Truman, and Willard Townsend of Lincoln, executive vice-chairman.

In charge of a fund raising panel will be Leo Beck of Lincoln, Democratic state treasurer, Paul Busch of Howells, and Townsend. All county Democratic treasurers will also take part.

Boyle will preside at a forum which will recommend candidates for state and congressional offices.

Meier has invited members of the state Central Committee, chairmen and vice-chairmen of the four congressional districts and of each of Nebraska's 93 county organizations.

Omaha Man Held For Selling Stock Without License

OMAHA (AP)—An Omaha man Thursday was being held for Lincoln authorities who have three warrants charging him with selling oil stock without a license.

He was identified as Otto M. Campbell, 57, of 111 South 33rd street, Omaha, and booked as a fugitive from justice.

Detectives said the warrants list three persons to whom Campbell allegedly sold oil stock. The persons were not fully identified.

Campbell has an office in the downtown Omaha area, according to detectives.

Deputy County Attorney Elmer Scheele said the complaints were filed in Lancaster County court Thursday afternoon, and involved incidents in 1951 and an Oklahoma oil lease.

Scheele said the complaints were filed at the request of the state banking department.

Senator-Pentagon Peace Pact Try Ends In Failure

Secretary Declares, With 100% Backing Of Ike, He Will 'Never Accede To Abuse' Of Army Men

HUDDLE AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Stevens, with the support of President Eisenhower, declared Thursday night he will "never accede" to any brow-beating of Army personnel.

Senator McCarthy, rejecting the idea that he had abused anyone, promptly served notice he would prosecute his investigations "vigorously."

Stevens issued his statement at the White House a day of huddling with high officials, including Eisenhower. The Army chief obviously was stung by the practically universal belief that his "peace pact" the previous day with McCarthy was a surrender to the Wisconsin Republican senator.

The White House declared Eisenhower had read the Stevens statement and "approves and endorses it 100 per cent."

The McCarthy-Stevens feud promptly erupted anew. McCarthy accused the Army chief of making "a completely false statement."

RECEIVED ASSURANCE

Stevens said that at his meeting with McCarthy and other members of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee Wednesday he had received assurance that "abuse" of witnesses would not be premitted in the future.

These assurances did not appear in the previous day's "peace pact" and Stevens did not mention them until Thursday night. Labelling Stevens' statement about the assurances "completely false," McCarthy said:

"Absolutely no concession was made that any witness was abused."

He said that to promise not to abuse them in the future would amount to admitting that they had been abused in the past.

"We made it very clear," the senator said, "that any witness from the Army or anywhere else, if he is not frank and truthful, will be vigorously examined to get the truth about Communist activities.

"If it will be unpleasant to tell the truth, I can't be responsible."

These latest turns in the McCarthy-Stevens feud came shortly after Republican leaders on Capitol Hill failed in agitated efforts to write a new "peace pact" modifying the McCarthy-Stevens truce reached Wednesday.

ALL-DAY CONFERENCES

The move by key GOP figures was apparently designed to take some of the sting out of Stevens' feeling that he had been given the rough edge in the "surrender" episode.

Hurried all-day conferences at the White House, on Capitol Hill and at the Pentagon had signalled earlier that some move was impending in an effort to heal the breach.

Stevens himself had denied reports that he had asked the White House for a public expression of support from President Eisenhower and would resign if it was not forthcoming.

Nevertheless, the White House became the forum for Stevens' statement, in which he said: "I shall never accede to the abuse of Army personnel under any circumstances, including committee hearings, I shall never accede to their being browbeaten or humiliated."

Full Backing

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, emphasizing that Stevens had the backing of the President, said:

"He (Eisenhower) has seen the statement. He approves and endorses it 100 per cent."

With Hagerty standing at his elbow, Stevens parried a barrage of questions from newsmen. Several times Hagerty motioned him not to reply.

Noting Stevens's statement that Wednesday's "memorandum of understanding" with McCarthy had been "misinterpreted;" newsmen asked how it had been misconstrued. Stevens kept silent as Hagerty gestured to him not to answer.

"Are you going to continue as Secretary of the Army?" a reporter asked.

Before Stevens could answer, Hagerty broke in:

"I'll answer that. Of course."

Stevens declined to say why the "assurances" of no further "abusive" treatment of army witnesses had not been written into Wednesday's agreement, negotiated with McCarthy and three other GOP members of the Senate Subcommittee.

Later, on his return to the Pentagon, he was asked again about the lack of a written pledge about the "assurances."

Not His Idea

"I guess I didn't handle it too well," Stevens said.

Stevens, in his statement, emphasized that it was not his idea to cancel Thursday's scheduled "showdown" with McCarthy before a nationwide TV audience, which had been all set up.

He said he agreed to the cancellation because of the subcommittee's "assurances," and he declared:

"If it had not been for those assurances, I would never have entered into any agreement whatsoever. I want to make it perfectly clear that should such abuses occur in any quarter in the future, I shall once again take steps at my disposal to protect the rights of any individuals in this department."

It was Stevens' action in forbidding two Army generals to obey subpoenas from the McCarthy Subcommittee that led McCarthy to invite Stevens to a face-to-face showdown on the issue.

Rural chairman Richard Lefferdink said that some of the contribution reports would not be in for another week. The first report was $1,601 short of the announced goal of $5,895.

More than 300 persons who solicited Red Cross funds as captains and workers from the rural areas attended the banquet-rally at the Scottish Rite temple at 15th and L Streets.

Iowa Killing Said 'Solved'

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—Chief of Detectives Harry Gibbon Friday night announced that a Sioux City man has signed a statement admitting participating in the holdup-slaying of William Edwards, 51, Mondamin farmer.

He identified the man only as a "Sioux City man now in custody".

Gibbons told a news conference he could not divulge the man's name at this time, nor could he furnish additional details.

The investigation which led to solution of the Monday night slaying, Gibbons said, was a joint effort of the sheriff at Logan, the Sioux City police department, the Woodbury County sheriff, the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and South Dakota authorities.

Chief R. W. Nebergall of the State Bureau of Criminal Investigation, confirming that the case had been solved, said the investigation involved "real cooperation of all the agencies involved."

He added that the reason the name of the confessed man could not be divulged was that "we still have a lot of work to do on the case".

Smaller State Legislatures, Committee Streamlining Urged By Study Group; Unicameral Backed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A major overhaul of state legislatures was proposed Thursday by a 12-member study committee of the American Political Science Association.

Some of the legislative powers would be transferred to local governmental units, and automatic redistricting would be required, to eliminate "over-representation" of rural areas.

Reporting on a four-year survey, the committee also recommended stricter control of lobbyists and a "code of ethics" for the present 7,600 state legislators.

The group put in a good word for the unicameral or one-house legislature—now operating only in Nebraska—and favored smaller legislatures and a streamlining of committees.

The study committee was made up of professors of political science and national and state legislative experts. Its chairman was Professor Belle Zeller of Brooklyn College.

The study's results are compiled in a 294-page book published by Thomas Y. Crowell Co.

The book calls the modernization of state legislatures "the most important piece of unfinished business in the area of government reorganization."

It says these bodies now are "poorly equipped to serve as policy-making agencies in mid-20th Century America," but that they can and should be made to function as "dynamic, co-ordinate, efficient, policy-formulating bodies."

The growth and complexity of state functions, as well as the new burdens created by grants-in-aid and other federal-state relationships, say the experts, have created problems which cannot be met adequately by "the old-fashioned time-consuming legislative procedures, antiquated organization, inadequate and incompetent staff services."

The committee found the committee systems "archaic, not having changed in most states in any important respect for 50 or a 100 years—or more." Also, "rules of procedure that antedate the invention of the printing press still prevail in many jurisdictions," and some legislative bodies still continue to consume from one-fourth to one-third of their session time in roll calls.

To improve the situation in such areas, the committee recommended a substantial reduction in the number of standing committees (state houses now average 32 and senates 35) and the assignment to each committee of a broad area of legislation. It also proposed recoding of rules of procedure to make them "conducive to orderly and effective deliberation."

Here are a few of the more important recommendations:

1—Repeal of the socalled "statutory" sections of state constitution which prescribe major policy or details of administration, and delegation of such powers with proper safeguards to the legislature or executive department.

2.—Automatic reappointment of seats in both houses after each decennial census. This should be done by a special administrative agency outside the legislature.

The committee also favored election of members by districts with equal populations, no gerrymandering (drawing of irregular boundary lines to give one political party an advantage), and lines drawn to permit a wide representation of interests.

3.—Re-examination of arguments for bicameralism (two-house legislature) in the "supposed checks and safeguards are more or less illusory."

The one-house legislature, established in 1937 in Nebraska, has proved successful, it was stated. Although unicameralism is not a panacea for legislative ills, the committee said, a single house "seems a more logical framework" upon which to hang any improvements that might be considered to remove practical objections to the bicameral form.

4—Reduction in the size of state legislatures, but not below 40 members for a lower house or for a unicameral body, and with a ratio of one senator to three representatives. Present range for house memberships is from 35 in Delaware to 399 in New Hampshire for state senates, 17 in Delaware and Nevada to 67 in Minnesota. Nebraska's unicameral Legislature has 43 members, all known as senators.

5—Retention of the initiative and referendum where they now exist—in about 20 states—but only as "weapons of popular control when representative action appears to be blocked."

6—A special commission to develop a "code of ethics" for legislators to clarify their responsibility and to "pave the way for popular demands for restraint upon interests seeking special favors."

Members of the study group, besides Miss Zeller of Brooklyn College, were Daniel Axelrod, New York state budget bureau; Prof. Mona Fletcher, Kent State University, Kent, O.; Dr. W. Brooke Graves, Library of Congress legislative reference service; Dr. Frederic H. Guild, Kansas Legislative Council; Prof. Joseph P. Harris, University of California; Prof. Lashley G. Harvey, Boston University; Dr. Jack F. Isakoff, Illinois Legislative Council; Dr. John A. Perkins, president of the University of Deleware; Prof. Charles W. Shull, Wayne University, Detroit; Prof. Richard C. Spencer, Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Prof. O'Douglas Weeks, University of Texas.

—Bricker Plan—

Ike Stand Wins In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate voted 50-42 Thursday to reject the heart of the controversial Bricker Amendment to curb the President's treaty-making powers.

It also defeated, 74-18, a motion of Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) to send the whole burning issue back to the Judiciary Committee for further study.

President Eisenhower is firmly opposed to changing the Constitution as Bricker suggests and has not endorsed any of the milder, substitute amendments now before the Senate.

The rejected section would have changed the Constitution to provide that no treaty or international agreement could become effective as domestic law without congressional legislation.

Before the vote, Sen. Bricker (R-O) declared that action on this section "will justly be interpreted as a vote for or against the substance of my original amendment."

He said if anything else were written into the Constitution the whole question would remain an issue in politics for many years to come.

Actually the section was a modification of Bricker's original clause, which was knocked out of the proposed amendment in a complicated series of votes engineered by the GOP leadership in the Senate last week.

Seventeen Republicans, including the administration leaders, joined with 32 Democrats and Morse to defeat the key section. Bricker was supported by 28 other Republicans and 13 Democrats, mostly Southerners.

Nebraska Senators Butler and Griswold, both Republicans, voted with the losing side Thursday.

A two-thirds majority of those present and voting is required for senate approval of a constitutional amendment. As it was, Bricker's modification didn't get even a simple majority.

Butler Aid Named U.S. Marshal

Frank Golden Asked To Resign Position

Frank Golden, U.S. Marshal for Nebraska since 1948, announced Thursday his resignation, made at the Department of Justice's request.

According to the Associated Press, President Eisenhower Thursday nominated William Raab, in charge of Sen Hugh Butler's Omaha office for the past five years, to succeed Golden.

Golden

Raab, a Republican, is a practicing attorney in Omaha. He is a native of Germany and is 57 years old. He was naturalized as a U.S. citizen in 1921.

Golden, contacted by The Lincoln Star in North Platte where he is attending a Federal Court session, said he had been asked to resign "about 10 days ago" via a telephone call made from the Department of Justice.

His resignation, Golden said, is effective immediately. However, he will stay in office until Raab is ready to assume his duties.

A Lincoln native, Golden was appointed in 1948 as a successor to George Proudfit, upon Proudfit's recommendation. He previously had served as deputy marshal. Golden was reappointed in June, 1952, and his present commisison expires June 1956.

"They wanted a Republican in the office—and I'm not a Republican," Golden said. He added that he has no immediate future plans and that "I am looking for a job."

Commenting on Golden's requested resignation, Federal Judge John Delehant of Lincoln stated: "Both personally and as one of the judges of the court, I regret to learn of Mr. Golden's replacement. He has been one of the most devoted and conscientious public servants I have ever known."

"His co-operation with the judges and other officers of the court has been notable and helpful. He is besides a gentleman of the highest integrity."

Grand Island Liquor Transfer Is Approved

Chairman Tal Coonrad said Thursday the Liquor Commission has approved transfer of Fred Mehring's package liquor license at Grand Island from 310 North Pine St. to 631 South Locust St. after turning down the original request several weeks ago.

"The move was approved on the basis of a lot more information than we had when we turned it down in January," Coonrad explained.

He said the Grand Island City Council had approved the move, with the assurance that the Locust Street area is better policed than it was formerly.

'Withdrawal Clauses Absence May Penalize Power Groups'

Gregory Cripps, Hay Springs member of the executive board of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association, said the absence of withdrawal clauses in the proposed federal power contracts to private power companies could penalize western division Missouri Public Power groups as much as $100,000 a year.

Here to attend the Nebraska association's executive board meeting he said the penalty would come to bear through the necessity by the public power groups contracting and paying for power in order to protect the supply for future growth.

Softened Policy

Assistant Secretary of Interior Fred G. Aandahl earlier announced a softened federal policy calculated to assuage public power agencies which protested the department's intention to grant 20 year contracts for such federally produced power remained unclaimed by public power agencies.

The substitute was short term contracts to private companies plus a right of the public power agencies to supply needed new power needs through application with the Department of Interior.

But Cripps said, "Until the department puts in writing what they will do to protect the load growth of preference customers there is nothing we can do but request power for our ultimate needs now even to our detriment."

In western Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming area, where public power is in competition with private power for federally produced energy, recent applications by both total 330,943 kilowatts which is 73,728 more than the total uncommitted power expected to be available by 1956.

Arms To Pakistan Pledged

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower announced Thursday the United States will grant military aid to Pakistan, a move which Prime Minister Nehru of India has said his government would consider an unfriendly act.

Before making the decision public, the President sent Nehru a mollifying letter which contained assurances that "this step does not in any way affect the friendship we feel for India."

Arizona Crash Kills Sidney Seamark, 18

Sidney E. Seamark, 18, of 1327 So. 17th, was killed and Donald Lee Stanley, 17, of 924 Park, was seriously injured in an auto accident early Thursday morning near Holbrook, Ariz.

Sidney Seamark

The Associated Press reported two other passengers in the car received minor injuries when it swerved across U. S. Highway 66 about 11 miles east of Holbrook and crashed into a tractor.

They are William E. Gerkin of Ashland, Neb., and Owen L. Sanders of Fort Worth, Tex. The tractor driver, Glenn Frost of nearby Joseph City, escaped injury.

Lost Control

Investigating officers said Seamark apparently fell asleep before losing control of the car, according to the press report.

The two Lincoln youths had left here late Tuesday night with Gerkin, who was the owner of the car, according to the youths' families.

They did not know the Fort Worth man, which raised the speculation he was picked up enroute.

Stanley, a Teachers High School junior, lived in Lincoln with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Purl B. Stanley.

His grandmother was informed by the Holbrook hospital that the youth was in "serious" condition and that a brain surgeon was being flown in from California.

She said that Stanley and Seamark were enroute to Boulder City, Nev., to visit Stanley's uncle.

Seamark, who was a TCHS senior last year, but left school before graduation, is the son of Mrs. Erma F. Seamark.

In addition to his mother, young Seamark is survived by two brothers, Bruce with the Army, and Robert, at home, and a sister, Evelyn, at home.

—Bricker Plan—

Ike Stand Wins In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate voted 50-42 Thursday to reject the heart of the controversial Bricker Amendment to curb the President's treaty-making powers.

It also defeated, 74-18, a motion of Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) to send the whole burning issue back to the Judiciary Committee for further study.

President Eisenhower is firmly opposed to changing the Constitution as Bricker suggests and has not endorsed any of the milder, substitute amendments now before the Senate.

The rejected section would have changed the Constitution to provide that no treaty or international agreement could become effective as domestic law without congressional legislation.

Before the vote, Sen. Bricker (R-O) declared that action on this section "will justly be interpreted as a vote for or against the substance of my original amendment."

He said if anything else were written into the Constitution the whole question would remain an issue in politics for many years to come.

Actually the section was a modification of Bricker's original clause, which was knocked out of the proposed amendment in a complicated series of votes engineered by the GOP leadership in the Senate last week.

Seventeen Republicans, including the administration leaders, joined with 32 Democrats and Morse to defeat the key section. Bricker was supported by 28 other Republicans and 13 Democrats, mostly Southerners.

Nebraska Senators Butler and Griswold, both Republicans, voted with the losing side Thursday.

A two-thirds majority of those present and voting is required for senate approval of a constitutional amendment. As it was, Bricker's modification didn't get even a simple majority.

Butler Aid Named U.S. Marshal

Frank Golden Asked To Resign Position

Frank Golden, U.S. Marshal for Nebraska since 1948, announced Thursday his resignation, made at the Department of Justice's request.

According to the Associated Press, President Eisenhower Thursday nominated William Raab, in charge of Sen Hugh Butler's Omaha office for the past five years, to succeed Golden.

Golden

Raab, a Republican, is a practicing attorney in Omaha. He is a native of Germany and is 57 years old. He was naturalized as a U.S. citizen in 1921.

Golden, contacted by The Lincoln Star in North Platte where he is attending a Federal Court session, said he had been asked to resign "about 10 days ago" via a telephone call made from the Department of Justice.

His resignation, Golden said, is effective immediately. However, he will stay in office until Raab is ready to assume his duties.

A Lincoln native, Golden was appointed in 1948 as a successor to George Proudfit, upon Proudfit's recommendation. He previously had served as deputy marshal. Golden was reappointed in June, 1952, and his present commisison expires June 1956.

"They wanted a Republican in the office—and I'm not a Republican," Golden said. He added that he has no immediate future plans and that "I am looking for a job."

Commenting on Golden's requested resignation, Federal Judge John Delehant of Lincoln stated: "Both personally and as one of the judges of the court, I regret to learn of Mr. Golden's replacement. He has been one of the most devoted and conscientious public servants I have ever known."

"His co-operation with the judges and other officers of the court has been notable and helpful. He is besides a gentleman of the highest integrity."

Grand Island Liquor Transfer Is Approved

Chairman Tal Coonrad said Thursday the Liquor Commission has approved transfer of Fred Mehring's package liquor license at Grand Island from 310 North Pine St. to 631 South Locust St. after turning down the original request several weeks ago.

"The move was approved on the basis of a lot more information than we had when we turned it down in January," Coonrad explained.

He said the Grand Island City Council had approved the move, with the assurance that the Locust Street area is better policed than it was formerly.

'Withdrawal Clauses Absence May Penalize Power Groups'

Gregory Cripps, Hay Springs member of the executive board of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association, said the absence of withdrawal clauses in the proposed federal power contracts to private power companies could penalize western division Missouri Public Power groups as much as $100,000 a year.

Here to attend the Nebraska association's executive board meeting he said the penalty would come to bear through the necessity by the public power groups contracting and paying for power in order to protect the supply for future growth.

Softened Policy

Assistant Secretary of Interior Fred G. Aandahl earlier announced a softened federal policy calculated to assuage public power agencies which protested the department's intention to grant 20 year contracts for such federally produced power remained unclaimed by public power agencies.

The substitute was short term contracts to private companies plus a right of the public power agencies to supply needed new power needs through application with the Department of Interior.

But Cripps said, "Until the department puts in writing what they will do to protect the load growth of preference customers there is nothing we can do but request power for our ultimate needs now even to our detriment."

In western Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming area, where public power is in competition with private power for federally produced energy, recent applications by both total 330,943 kilowatts which is 73,728 more than the total uncommitted power expected to be available by 1956.

Arms To Pakistan Pledged

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower announced Thursday the United States will grant military aid to Pakistan, a move which Prime Minister Nehru of India has said his government would consider an unfriendly act.

Before making the decision public, the President sent Nehru a mollifying letter which contained assurances that "this step does not in any way affect the friendship we feel for India."

Arizona Crash Kills Sidney Seamark, 18

Sidney E. Seamark, 18, of 1327 So. 17th, was killed and Donald Lee Stanley, 17, of 924 Park, was seriously injured in an auto accident early Thursday morning near Holbrook, Ariz.

Sidney Seamark

The Associated Press reported two other passengers in the car received minor injuries when it swerved across U. S. Highway 66 about 11 miles east of Holbrook and crashed into a tractor.

They are William E. Gerkin of Ashland, Neb., and Owen L. Sanders of Fort Worth, Tex. The tractor driver, Glenn Frost of nearby Joseph City, escaped injury.

Lost Control

Investigating officers said Seamark apparently fell asleep before losing control of the car, according to the press report.

The two Lincoln youths had left here late Tuesday night with Gerkin, who was the owner of the car, according to the youths' families.

They did not know the Fort Worth man, which raised the speculation he was picked up enroute.

Stanley, a Teachers High School junior, lived in Lincoln with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Purl B. Stanley.

His grandmother was informed by the Holbrook hospital that the youth was in "serious" condition and that a brain surgeon was being flown in from California.

She said that Stanley and Seamark were enroute to Boulder City, Nev., to visit Stanley's uncle.

Seamark, who was a TCHS senior last year, but left school before graduation, is the son of Mrs. Erma F. Seamark.

In addition to his mother, young Seamark is survived by two brothers, Bruce with the Army, and Robert, at home, and a sister, Evelyn, at home.

Race With Death

PEARL HARBOR (AP)—The destroyer O'Bannon slashed through heavy seas north of Hawaii at 35 miles an hour Thursday in a dramatic race to save a seaman stricken with a ruptured appendix and peritonitis.

The 21-year-old seaman, whose name was withheld, became critically ill aboard the Navy refrigerator ship Arequipa 200 miles north of here. The O'Bannon raced to the scene and the transfer was made in predawn darkness while the two vessels pitched and tossed in a raging wind-whipped sea.

Air Academy OKd

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Armed Services Committee Thursday gave its approval to a House-passed bill to set up an Air Force Academy, but the committee tacked on a few new provisions.

Among them: To allow up to 12½ per cent of the graduates of the Air Force academy and of Annapolis and West Point to switch over to an opposite branch of the service.

House Votes 361-1 To Give Its Probers $275,000

$25,000 Cut From Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted 362-1 Thursday to appropriate $275,000 to finance the operations of its Un-American Activities Committee through 1954. Rep. Wier (D-Minn) cast the lone dissenting vote.

Rep. Lecompte (R-Iowa), chairman of the House Administration Committee, said his group had cut $25,000 from the request of the Un-American Activities Committee which is headed by Rep. Velde (R-Ill).

The Red hunting group had a $25,000 balance from a $300,000 appropriation made a year ago.

Rep. Doyle (D-Calif) was the only committee member to protest the cut saying "this is no time to economize, not a nickel's worth, in investigating in the field of subversive activities."

Four "Present"

Rep. Celler (D-NY) didn't vote on the money resolution but was announced as paired against the measure. Four members—Condon (R-Cal), Blatnik (D-Minn), O'Hara (D-Ill) and Powell (D-NY) — answered "present" at the roll call vote.

Rep. Javits (R-NY), during debate on the resolution, said members of Congress must assume responsibility for the action of its committees.

He said a number of "respectable" groups of church leaders have criticized the committee's procedure and such criticism "can't be taken lightly."

Javits suggested that committee rules on procedure are "inadequate' because a witness testified about Communist associates of two rabbis "who had no opportunity to answer."

Rep. Walter (D-Pa), a committee member, said he would like to receive "a bill of particulars about where the committee has dealt unfairly with anyone."

"Likes Headlines"

Weir told Velde at one point: "Your committee, not unlike others, likes headlines."

Velde and other committee members offered a defense of the committee's rules during the House debate.

Rep. Doyle said the committee adopted last year for the first time in its existence a set of rules which have been printed and made available to all witnesses before they testified. He said they are an improvement over anything the group had before although there is still room for further improvement.

Mock Radar Trial Proves: Speeders Haven't A Chance

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

Expert testimony was concluded Thursday in the mock trial of presenting evidence suitable for conviction of speeders clocked by radar.

The conclusion: If the set's working, you haven't got a chance.

The star witness Thursday was Burt Davis, technical electronics advisor for KFAB, who said he worked with and around radar type electronics since 1948. He is communications advisor for the State of Kansas highway patrol.

60 Attend

Close to 60 police men along with several city officials sat in on the hypothetical case involving a speeder who was trapped by the radar device. John Binning, city prosecutor who acted in that capacity Thursday, told the court that radar "is not a tool of the prosecution, but just another method of getting people to slow down."

Binning during the trial directed Davis' testimony to the makeup and effectiveness of radar as a speed clocking device and the possiblity of error, both mechanical and human. Davis testified that mechanical error could be detected immediately by the indications on the miles-per-hour recorder used in the clocking.

On the human element, Binning told the court that a graph has been installed to go with the recorder which will note the speed on a revolving cylinder of every car passing the radar.

Davis told the court that neither weather conditions nor material devices will jam the set into not working. The only thing that will make it inoperative, Davis said, is an electronic device set on the same frequency of the radar set.

But without a license, the expert noted, people using these devices are subject to $10,000 fine and two years imprisonment.

The only bugaboo that appeared during questioning of the star witness was the possibility that he might have to appear on every contested case involved in radar checking of speeders. This is because of his testimony as an expert on the fact that radar is a competent device for such uses.

The court adjourned for consideration of the information gained during Thursday's hearing and will convene at a later date when the mock trial likely will be concluded. Defense attorney for the trial was Jack Pace, deputy city attorney.

The hearing was held before Municipal Judge John Jacobson, a graduate of special instruction at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Behind Closed Doors

"Messrs. Stevens (secretary of war) and McCarthy (Wisconsin senator) patched up their feud at a two-hour meeting behind closed doors on Capitol Hill. At the end, while Mr. Stevens sat in grim-faced silence, Sen. Mundt (R-SD) read newsmen a 'memorandum of agreement.'"—Extract from an Associated Press dispatch.

★

In practical effect, one of the newspapers in the national capital said this "memorandum of agreement" is unconditional surrender of one branch of the military to the snortin', fire-eatin', rootin' tootin', swashbuckling senator from Wisconsin.

It is the privilege of all Americans to stand staunchly behind Sen. McCarthy or to hold what is known as the technique of McCarthyism in the deepest contempt, but the fact remains that Sen. McCarthy made the secretary of war eat his brave words, roll over and say "'Papa." For a very considerable number of Americans, men and women in all walks of life, deeply devoted to the institutions of free government, no less devoted to those institutions than McCarthy himself, what has happened is a shameful surrender by the Eisenhower administration to a man many millions of Americans look upon with fear and apprehension—a man they believe is surely, slowly and determinedly threatening the essence of the precious spirit of American civil rights.

We have been hearing a lot recently from certain quarters of the press about the right to know. Surely the discussion surrounding this "memorandum of agreement" is public business. We know of very few developments in this country in recent years which can be said to affect the public interests, shape the future of this country, define the freedom and the liberties of its citizens, affect the lives of countless men, women and children, possibly for years to come, more than what was negotiated in secret behind closed doors.

Consider the facts. Secretary Stevens last week instructed two generals not to answer subpoenas issued by Sen. McCarthy on the grounds that Mr. McCarthy's "unfair" and "abusive" investigative tactics were wrecking Army morale. Sen. McCarthy's reply was that Mr. Stevens was a "dupe." Sen. McCarthy had told one of the Army generals, Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, bespattered with medals for field service in war, a participant in the D-Day landings in France, a military operation entrusted to Gen. Eisenhower, now the President, that he (Zwicker) was "unfit to wear that uniform."

Surrender, it was—the most abject surrender. Surrender, it was, four hours after the President of the United States, arriving in Washington from a desert vacation had the opportunity to clarify this atmosphere.

We can sympathize with the obvious desire for party harmony in a congressional campaign year. But the longer the administration hesitates to face up with the realities of an issue within its own ranks, the more difficult it will be. It would be oversimplification to say simply that either Sen. McCarthy is right or he is wrong. But it is not oversimplification to say that what happened behind closed doors and the developments leading up to that meeting will continue to be of grave concern to the majority of the American people. This meets no challenge except "political expediency." This answers nothing but the demands for party harmony. This actually contributes to Senator McCarthy's bargaining power in the future.

In its issue of Tuesday, February 23, the powerful New York Times, one of the great newspapers in this country devoted in its support of the President, in its lead editorial undertook to analyze the real issue raised by the latest McCarthy episode. The Times said:

"As Sen. McCarthy says he sees it: 'The issue raised by Mr. Stevens is whether the Army is supreme over the Congress, other government agencies and the American people, and can enjoy dictatorial immunity in covering up its own wrong-doing.'

"This is not the issue. The Army is authorized, supplied, recruited and financed by the votes of a civilian Congress. The Department of Defense is just as much under civilian control as is the Post Office Department or the Department of Commerce. The issue is whether Congress has a right to interfere in the actual functioning of an executive department. If such a right exists, then the constitutional separation of powers is breaking down at this point. . . . But no such right does exist. No legislator, no group of legislators has the legal, let alone the moral right to require government employees to violate their superiors' orders or to bully and insult them when they do not do so. Yet we have seen our defense measure interfered with, our foreign policy handicapped, the plain intent of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights contravened by congressional committees and notoriously by the subcommittee dominated by Joseph R. McCarthy."

★

Whatever the New York Times may think about it, Sen. McCarthy won his battle, and the wholesome opinion of The Times is wasted on the air. Whatever the Times may see in this latest incident, Sen. McCarthy comes out from behind closed doors with an instrument of unconditional surrender clutched in his hands. Whatever people, large or small, may think about it, it is Washington's mood that nothing is quite so important as to get along with a guy named McCarthy.

What the Times defines as constitutional rights be damned, what the Times construes as the guarantees contained in the Bill of Rights be damned.

Joe McCarthy rides again—and how!

That was the way it was when the sun rose over Washington Thursday. What it would be in the uncertain, unstable atmosphere of the national capital by nightfall no one could say.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Things were looking up in eastern Nebraska. What a lift is provided by a slow, soaking rain and by the promise that more may be on its way! We can spill countless columns of words about the ravages of floods and programs to control floods, while ignoring something infinitely more important in the program of conservation of natural resources.

★

A Denver Post writer put his finger on it the other day. "Drought seldom is dramatic," he wrote in his paper. "Ordinarily it spreads like a silent cancer. But in southeastern Colorado Thursday, it is a tangible, fearsome force. You feel the grit between your teeth, between your fingers in your eyes, even though it may not be blowing. You begin to itch all over with it, as you watch mile after mile of fences buried in blown dust and sand, telegraph poles and farm equipment banked high with the powdery stuff that kills rich farmland. . . . Once in Hugo (Lincoln County seat), you know the dust has been there. Just a few miles to the south and the world turned gray. A few hundred yards off the main highway, you could see the first bitter evidence. It looked curiously like an ocean beach with a few weeds rising above the wind-sculptured sand. . . . Bob White of Rocky Ford, who superintends 70,000 acres of Colorado farmland, was driving by. 'This is hardly anything,' he said. 'Go to Haswell and Eads. It'll break your heart.'"

Yes, Lacking In Drama

★

This is not reprinted to break any hearts or to contribute to gloom. This is written in the hope that it will recall some misguided individuals from folly and deceit. The great contribution of the soil conservation program is not its relatively small contribution to flood control. Soil conservation offers the greatest benefits in times of drought. It conserves moisture 100 per cent when moisture is scarce. It pins down soil when soil is blowing away. It is so everlastingly important to America in guarding this nation against those seasons when drought produces such great hardship, losses far exceeding the losses to growing crops occasioned by floods.

★

Some years ago the Department of Agriculture, noting the sums being spent for flood control, developed its own little gadget. It wanted to latch onto some of the appropriations for flood control, expand its personnel, enter upon the job of building dams in a much larger capacity than had been undertaken previously. If soil conservation is any help in the control of floods, fine. It will serve to some extent in treatment of the small streams, and at times when the deluges fall short of what we call the "storms of the century." But it will not control floods in certain instances when abnormal rainfall has saturated the soil before the storm of the century descends. Now the call sent out to soil conservation groups was for "an action committee" to keep an eye presumably on Congress, to exert all the pressure upon Congress that can be brought, to ride roughshod over any or all opposition.

One Green Smiling Valley

★

The greatest contribution to a sound soil conservation program today would be to present it as it really is in all of its noble, heroic, and vitally important benefits.

India Advises

India, that meditative nation which only occasionally breaks its quiet thought to make some philosophical remark, has finally offered a piece of advice to this tense, troubled world.

It suggests that the great statesmen hereafter attend their conferences without clothing. Nakedness, opines India, would serve to remind the conferees that all men are brothers. Once such a conviction is firmly entrenched most of the barriers to world peace would disappear.

Once the world would have laughed at such a suggestion. But there are now quite a number who feel that conventional efforts are getting nowhere. These have reached the stage they would be willing to try any approach just so long as it hasn't already proved ineffective. The idea has other merits, too. It would assure much shorter conferences where central heating systems are not good—bring about much less talk with its complex involvements and misunderstandings, and bring into the diplomatic picture the younger and more athletic type rather than the aging and paunchy people who are not getting the job done. That in itself would offer a new approach.

Lost Battle

It was a disappointed America which heard the conclusion of 20 experts that gamma globulin did not come through its mass tests for polio control convincingly. They said it did not measurably reduce the number of cases among families exposed to the disease. This means one bright new hope is gone and that polio research must go back to the laboratory. But it does not mean the fight is lost. What was learned will add its contribution to the ultimate and certain victory of science.

Political Strategists Censor Slump Plans

WASHINGTON — Before President Eisenhower sent his economic message to Congress an important debate took place among White House advisers as to whether it should include two remedies for recession. These were:

1—Tax relief in order to stimulate retail trade and business expansion.

2—A public works program to take up the slack resulting from reduced defense orders.

The President's economic advisers wanted such a program spelled out in black and white in the message to Congress. But the public relations advisers (Democrats call them "hucksters") were opposed. They argued that too much emphasis on the recession by the President would create a bad psychological reaction and only increase the recession.

Some also pointed out that if the Democrats were going to be accused of talking us into a recession—as presidential assistant Sherman Adams did shortly thereafter—it was poor strategy for the President to give them any ammunition.

So the public relations advisers triumphed over the economic advisers and the economic message went to Congress without these two recession remedies.

☆ ☆ ☆

Since then the President has disclosed one of the remedies at a press conference—namely tax reduction. However, there remains considerable worry among presidential advisers as to how long they should let the business downturn drift without taking definite action.

Some of Ike's friends on Capitol Hill remember all too vividly the mistake Herbert Hoover made in talking about "prosperity just around the corner" at a time when he was being urged to act rather than talk about the depression.

Among Hoover's advisors at that time were Walter Gifford, head of American Telephone and Telegraph, who was put in charge of unemployment relief; Colonel Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York; and Eugene Meyer, former governor of the Federal Reserve Board and head of the RFC. All urged that he act vigorously, and Meyer advised constructive financial steps in Europe long before the depression clouds got serious.

Hoover, however, did not act—with the resultant economic catastrophe now all too well remembered.

Remembering this, some of the Ike advisers on Capitol Hill urge that he not make the same mistake.

Note—Ex-President Hoover stated again this week that he expected no great depression, and that he considered himself an expert on such things.

DEPRESSION D-DAY

Inside fact is the White House has now fixed two warning signals as D-day for depression When those signals approach, the White House advisers are to advise the President to begin tax cutting and pump priming.

The two D-day signals are:

1. When unemployment reaches the 4,000,000 mark. Since some estimates now put the figure at 3,500,000, this may not be far away.

2. When the production index drops to 14 per cent. At present it's dropped only to 9 per cent.

Meanwhile Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and other big business members of the cabinet are urging their friends in private industry that this is the time to pump private capital into the economy and show that they have confidence in the capitalist system. Wilson's old firm, General Motors, stepped forward as the bellwether by announcing a billion-dollar expansion program. It is hoped that others will follow suit.

Word has been passed out that now is the time for all good businessmen to come to the aid of the party and show that they do not have to fall back on government spending.

☆ ☆ ☆

AIR FORCE OIL MAN

A big oil executive who recently sold gasoline to the Air Force has now been given the job of buying gasoline for the Air Force.

He is W. W. White, vice president of Esso, who while working for that company negotiated a $30,000,000 agreement last year to sell aviation gas to the Air Force overseas. The agreement has been whittled down to $24,300,000 but it still constitutes about two-thirds of all aviation gas that will be used by the Air Force overseas during the current fiscal year.

Now White will walk round to the other side of the table and purchase gasoline for the Air Force. White is not giving up his holdings in Esso, as Secretary of Defense Wilson did in General Motors. In fact he will return to Esso after one year.

White was required to appear before Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson and agree that he would not favor his own company in handling petroleum contracts, after which Wilson told the Air Force he was satisfied White's holdings would not influence his decisions.

In fairness to the Air Force it should be noted that it is hard to get men experienced in this field, and the only field from which they can be secured is the oil industry.

East Germany Anti-Red But Unable To Resist

BERLIN—A map based on the most-thorough intelligence shows the extent of the great popular uprising of the East Germans throughout the Soviet zone last June. It is like a map in an advance command post, which is more or less what West Berlin is, indicating the towns and cities in which large numbers of people demonstrated against their Communist masters.

In 65 centers these demonstrations were so pronounced—walkouts from Communist-controlled plants, marches and angry mass meetings, in many instances the use of stones and crude weapons—as to call for repressive action by hastily summoned tank battalions and troops in the Soviet uniform. That is a measure of the resistance to the Red regime.

All this is, of course, much better known to Moscow than it is to Berlin and Washington. And if any explanation were needed for the unyielding position of Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov at the Berlin conference, this in itself was enough. Those who should know believe that in truly free elections in the East Zone of Germany the Communists would get at most 10 per cent of the vote, and it would probably be less than 5 per cent.

☆ ☆ ☆

How much this means for the longer future is not, however, at all clear. For the West it may mean comparatively little.

The uprisings of last June were put down by force. An estimated 3,000 to 4,000 East Germans were arrested. While some were executed, the majority were jailed. Perhaps an equal number of those conspicuously involved in the uprising escaped to the West.

In relation to the total who participated in one way or another this is not large. But these men and women were the leaders. Their disappearance has left a vacuum not easily filled. And the coercive force of the Soviet army is at hand to back up the puppet police and officials of the puppet East German state.

It is a disservice, therefore, to suggest that the dynamite of a potential revolution is lying all about just across the border. Rumors of a new uprising, circulated while the conference was going on, appear to have had little foundation in fact. Men may use stones against tanks in the climax to long-accumulated grievances. But when they have seen the consequences, they are likely to hesitate to do so a second time.

Unquestionably, conditions are bad in East Germany. But they are believed to be not much worse than they were a year ago or two years ago. And the regime has been holding out promises of more food and clothing.

Since the result of the conference was to make clear that Germany will go on being divided between East and West for an indefinite period of years, West Berlin is once more seen to be, as Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called it, "The first frontier of our freedom" and therefore of the highest importance. It must be both a command post and a show window of Western resolution.

The situation in West Berlin, on the whole, is a favorable one. There has been nothing like the rebuilding that has made over bombed cities such as Frankfurt. But with the extraordinary German capacity for hard work Berlin is producing at a rate about 40 per cent above a year ago. The reconstruction, the brightly lighted shop windows filled with all kinds of consumer goods are in striking contrast to the drabness of East Berlin.

Another effort by the Communists to blockade the west half of the city would fail, and the Communists know it. Because there are large stockpiles of food, fuel and raw material on hand, a second airlift such as saved the city in 1948-49 would be required in only a limited sense. It is estimated that the coal on hand would last a year. During the airlift, organized with such remarkable precision and efficiency, coal and virtually all other necessities were flown into the beleaguered city.

Because the Berlin conference slammed the door on any hope of German unification in the foreseeable future, the never-ending stream of refugees from the East is likely to increase. During the first weeks of this year they were passing through Berlin to West Germany at the rate of more than 2,000 a week. In February a year ago the rate was 10,000 a week. About 100,000 have remained in Berlin, most of them in camps which are pathetically inadequate.

The big problem in West Berlin is unemployment. The total today is put at more than 200,000 but that represents a decline of 30 per cent since last year. The drop is due in large part to American funds and to industrial guidance by American officials who have urged new methods on conservative Berlin businessmen.

In West Berlin the returning visitor misses a familiar figure who was both symbol and leader in the dark days when the Communists were confident that this outpost would fall to them. The late Mayor Ernst Reuter had not only courage but with it spirit and humor and a sharp and searching intelligence. So much of the man, who returned from exile when Hitler was overthrown, has gone into saving this frontier.

A Dose Of Doodle Oil For Amateur Anglers

By MONA B. PARKER

Babies in the North Midland neighborhood near Archer are customarily baptized soon after they are five months old, and in the Floyd Gorgen household they are attired in their grandfather's long flowing white petticoat and baptismal dress. After the laborious washing and ironing of the yards of ruffle and lace, scrubbing and grooming of the infant of the day, and general hectic organization of the rest of the family, the Gorgens settled themselves in a rear pew at Fairview Church amidst "a wrinkled, mussed, drooled upon and sound asleep baby, two bottles of formula (one too hot and one too cold), a toy dog, a teething ring, diaper bag and a man-sized handkerchief. Things went smoothly in spite of all maternal conjectures as the Rev. Dawson Park called parents and infants forward. "You sneak a glance at Floyd and know in an instant he is wishing his son were wearing 'boy' clothes. Then your heart nearly bursts with pride ...Your fears are forgotten . . . It's a picture you'll never forget, your youngest son in your father's christening dress." And then to the hushed congregation, three-year-old Thomas announced that the baby "is just gonna grow up bigger pretty soon now," and "you find yourself stunned with the realization that you spent the entire morning worrying about the wrong boy."

Fred A. Marsh, in the Central City Republican Nonpareil: "February-born calves are sure to be the big lusty ones at weaning time in the fall. Stabling of prospective mothers on cold nights entails extra labor, but it has been my experience that no other farm practice pays a higher dividend than that."

☆ ☆ ☆

The most chilling words to any mother, according to Eleanor Seberger in the Dawson County Herald, are these delivered minutes before school time: "I haven't any socks to wear." She discovered several years ago it's easier to have such items accessible downstairs, so saves shoe boxes, labels one for each of her children and keeps them on a shelf in her sewing cabinet. The dissertation on footwear was brought on by a Saturday afternoon spent darning no fewer than 17 pairs for her brood.

☆ ☆ ☆

A young grandmother was telling Mrs. Lester Eastwood of the Pawnee Republican staff about the serious illness of a grandchild. "It's a lot worse to have something wrong with a grandchild than with your own child," she explained. "It's awfully hard to explain, but somehow it's a double hurt—you feel bad because of your child and because of your grandchild, too."

And looking ahead, the woman sighed, "I don't know how I'll ever stand being a great-grandmother."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Neligh News reports this one. The shop instructor in the schools there asked the question: "Name 10 different trees that can be seen walking from the school to the downtown district."

One imaginative youngster responded: "I have never seen any trees walking from school to town."

☆ ☆ ☆

Two little Nebraska girls who live some distance apart had one thing in common—they both had bad weeks. For Corlis Pritchard, who is 7, misfortune piled itself all up into one day. The Pleasant Valley youngster bumped her "crazy bone" so hard at school that she fainted. When she fell, she struck her chin on the floor, cut her lower lip and lost two front teeth.

And little Judy Ahrndt of Scribner went to sleep on a shelf behind the clothes in the closet. Her frantic parents were about to call for help when they found her. Next day at aid society with her mother, she upset her pie and ice cream on the floor, and the following day she tumbled head-first down the neighbors' basement steps. "Just part of being three years old," her wise mother shrugs.

☆ ☆ ☆

J. C. Naylor took note of a headline in a prominent Midwest daily: "Our TV Beams Reach Mars, Says Scientist."

"So, don't worry," he counseled his readers. "They'll get to Imperial some day."

☆ ☆ ☆

"On my desk last week I found a bottle of Doodle Oil," wrote Edward S. Krikac in the Comstock News. "It's supposed to catch fish. I don't care if it does catch fish—I wouldn't drink a bottle of that darn stuff if it'd make me catch all the fish in Nebraska."

Modern Honesty

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is true that honesty is the best policy. But in this modern day and age when everything seems topsy-turvy — especially so in the commercial and political field — one wonders if the adage continues to ring true.

AS TO HONESTY

To err is human, to forgive divine,
Show me a man all down the line,
Without a spot of Adam's taint,
The robe which wraps an earthly saint.

All honest men seek honest gain.
Dishonesty brings grief, and shame,
Whatever man sets out to win,
Depends upon his soul within.

If to myself I am not true,
What means my promise made to you?
For better not make pledge at all,
Than sip the cup of failure's gall.

Just carry on each working day,
Life's dividends will surely pay.
And when at last comes heavenly rest,
The Lord will say: 'You've done your best.'

Union Decision

Avoca, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The decision made by the Nebraska Farmers Union on price supports for agricultural products looks like a slam on the secretary of agriculture and his talk made at the Union's annual meeting recently in Omaha.

The decision also was a sympathetic airing of its opinion opposing the views of the union's president—just another example where soft pedaling and a timely political stunt failed to dent the Roosevelt New Deal.

Home To Roost

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It was somewhat encouraging to note the rather limited attention given by the press to the vicious charges leveled against Chief Justice Nominee Warren.

The question then comes to mind—would the story have received the same light coverage had Sen. McCarthy rather than Sen. Langer been in charge of the production? The newspapers of our country stand equally guilty and should be judged accordingly with the political limelighters who have become so commonplace in our present-day society. The truly sad result of these antics of the masters of the untruths and half-truths is that they have captured the complete fancy of many of the "Little Orphan Annie" fans and "Dick Tracy" is most amateurish by comparison in his daily sleuthing. "Annie" and "Dick" share the front pages only on Sunday, while their more distinguished counterparts roam at will in the lead headlines daily.

Vice-President Nixon, Sen. Knowland, and Sen. Watkins promptly and correctly labeled the announcement by fellow Republican Langer as "shocki..g," "tommyrot," and "time-wasting." Richard Nixon, never accused of missing an opportunity, even suggested investigating those making the charges. This should be the cue for Super-Investigator McCarthy. However, Joe is busying himself with Army matters for the present and it may be necessary to rush in such substitute headline hunters as Jenner or Velde.

Some of us even noticed that our own Nebraska home-grown gift to Washington, Attorney General Brownell, took the time to denounce the charges against Warren. This is especially significant since the attorney general seems customarily to limit his traitor investigations and public statements accordingly against the former President of the United States.

The Democratic Party is doing very little of a constructive nature to end this disgraceful orgy of character assassination and deal by witch-hunting. If those in a prominent position in the minority party were sincere in their efforts to quell this surging tide of unprincipled attacks on responsible public officials, the party leaders would have immediately rushed to the defense of Gov. Warren. However, it is possibly too much to expect from politicians who have been subjected to the McCarthy ordeal without fair support and vindication from the thinking men in the majority party. The Democratic leaders, although not exonerating themselves from their share of responsibility for allowing this plague to continue, are enjoying the sight of McCarthyism coming home to roost on the party which has clutched this unholy dogma to its breast, regardless of its consequence, primarily for its vote-getting appeal.

It has long been my feeling that if President Eisenhower would take a public stand four-square against McCarthyism, it would clear the air on this entire sorry chapter of our elected legislative officials roaming far and wide outside their regular investigative boundaries and return the matter of Communist investigations to the executive branch of the government. FBI Chief Hoover is well qualified for the direction of such projects and if the office of the attorney general will remove itself from politics, it will have ample time to expose and properly prosecute traitors to our country.

"See what I mean?—Sometimes it works and sometimes it doesn't."

Behind Closed Doors

"Messrs. Stevens (secretary of war) and McCarthy (Wisconsin senator) patched up their feud at a two-hour meeting behind closed doors on Capitol Hill. At the end, while Mr. Stevens sat in grim-faced silence, Sen. Mundt (R-SD) read newsmen a 'memorandum of agreement.'"—Extract from an Associated Press dispatch.

★

In practical effect, one of the newspapers in the national capital said this "memorandum of agreement" is unconditional surrender of one branch of the military to the snortin', fire-eatin', rootin' tootin', swashbuckling senator from Wisconsin.

It is the privilege of all Americans to stand staunchly behind Sen. McCarthy or to hold what is known as the technique of McCarthyism in the deepest contempt, but the fact remains that Sen. McCarthy made the secretary of war eat his brave words, roll over and say "'Papa." For a very considerable number of Americans, men and women in all walks of life, deeply devoted to the institutions of free government, no less devoted to those institutions than McCarthy himself, what has happened is a shameful surrender by the Eisenhower administration to a man many millions of Americans look upon with fear and apprehension—a man they believe is surely, slowly and determinedly threatening the essence of the precious spirit of American civil rights.

We have been hearing a lot recently from certain quarters of the press about the right to know. Surely the discussion surrounding this "memorandum of agreement" is public business. We know of very few developments in this country in recent years which can be said to affect the public interests, shape the future of this country, define the freedom and the liberties of its citizens, affect the lives of countless men, women and children, possibly for years to come, more than what was negotiated in secret behind closed doors.

Consider the facts. Secretary Stevens last week instructed two generals not to answer subpoenas issued by Sen. McCarthy on the grounds that Mr. McCarthy's "unfair" and "abusive" investigative tactics were wrecking Army morale. Sen. McCarthy's reply was that Mr. Stevens was a "dupe." Sen. McCarthy had told one of the Army generals, Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, bespattered with medals for field service in war, a participant in the D-Day landings in France, a military operation entrusted to Gen. Eisenhower, now the President, that he (Zwicker) was "unfit to wear that uniform."

Surrender, it was—the most abject surrender. Surrender, it was, four hours after the President of the United States, arriving in Washington from a desert vacation had the opportunity to clarify this atmosphere.

We can sympathize with the obvious desire for party harmony in a congressional campaign year. But the longer the administration hesitates to face up with the realities of an issue within its own ranks, the more difficult it will be. It would be oversimplification to say simply that either Sen. McCarthy is right or he is wrong. But it is not oversimplification to say that what happened behind closed doors and the developments leading up to that meeting will continue to be of grave concern to the majority of the American people. This meets no challenge except "political expediency." This answers nothing but the demands for party harmony. This actually contributes to Senator McCarthy's bargaining power in the future.

In its issue of Tuesday, February 23, the powerful New York Times, one of the great newspapers in this country devoted in its support of the President, in its lead editorial undertook to analyze the real issue raised by the latest McCarthy episode. The Times said:

"As Sen. McCarthy says he sees it: 'The issue raised by Mr. Stevens is whether the Army is supreme over the Congress, other government agencies and the American people, and can enjoy dictatorial immunity in covering up its own wrong-doing.'

"This is not the issue. The Army is authorized, supplied, recruited and financed by the votes of a civilian Congress. The Department of Defense is just as much under civilian control as is the Post Office Department or the Department of Commerce. The issue is whether Congress has a right to interfere in the actual functioning of an executive department. If such a right exists, then the constitutional separation of powers is breaking down at this point. . . . But no such right does exist. No legislator, no group of legislators has the legal, let alone the moral right to require government employees to violate their superiors' orders or to bully and insult them when they do not do so. Yet we have seen our defense measure interfered with, our foreign policy handicapped, the plain intent of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights contravened by congressional committees and notoriously by the subcommittee dominated by Joseph R. McCarthy."

★

Whatever the New York Times may think about it, Sen. McCarthy won his battle, and the wholesome opinion of The Times is wasted on the air. Whatever the Times may see in this latest incident, Sen. McCarthy comes out from behind closed doors with an instrument of unconditional surrender clutched in his hands. Whatever people, large or small, may think about it, it is Washington's mood that nothing is quite so important as to get along with a guy named McCarthy.

What the Times defines as constitutional rights be damned, what the Times construes as the guarantees contained in the Bill of Rights be damned.

Joe McCarthy rides again—and how!

That was the way it was when the sun rose over Washington Thursday. What it would be in the uncertain, unstable atmosphere of the national capital by nightfall no one could say.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Things were looking up in eastern Nebraska. What a lift is provided by a slow, soaking rain and by the promise that more may be on its way! We can spill countless columns of words about the ravages of floods and programs to control floods, while ignoring something infinitely more important in the program of conservation of natural resources.

★

A Denver Post writer put his finger on it the other day. "Drought seldom is dramatic," he wrote in his paper. "Ordinarily it spreads like a silent cancer. But in southeastern Colorado Thursday, it is a tangible, fearsome force. You feel the grit between your teeth, between your fingers in your eyes, even though it may not be blowing. You begin to itch all over with it, as you watch mile after mile of fences buried in blown dust and sand, telegraph poles and farm equipment banked high with the powdery stuff that kills rich farmland. . . . Once in Hugo (Lincoln County seat), you know the dust has been there. Just a few miles to the south and the world turned gray. A few hundred yards off the main highway, you could see the first bitter evidence. It looked curiously like an ocean beach with a few weeds rising above the wind-sculptured sand. . . . Bob White of Rocky Ford, who superintends 70,000 acres of Colorado farmland, was driving by. 'This is hardly anything,' he said. 'Go to Haswell and Eads. It'll break your heart.'"

★

This is not reprinted to break any hearts or to contribute to gloom. This is written in the hope that it will recall some misguided individuals from folly and deceit. The great contribution of the soil conservation program is not its relatively small contribution to flood control. Soil conservation offers the greatest benefits in times of drought. It conserves moisture 100 per cent when moisture is scarce. It pins down soil when soil is blowing away. It is so everlastingly important to America in guarding this nation against those seasons when drought produces such great hardship, losses far exceeding the losses to growing crops occasioned by floods.

★

Some years ago the Department of Agriculture, noting the sums being spent for flood control, developed its own little gadget. It wanted to latch onto some of the appropriations for flood control, expand its personnel, enter upon the job of building dams in a much larger capacity than had been undertaken previously. If soil conservation is any help in the control of floods, fine. It will serve to some extent in treatment of the small streams, and at times when the deluges fall short of what we call the "storms of the century." But it will not control floods in certain instances when abnormal rainfall has saturated the soil before the storm of the century descends. Now the call sent out to soil conservation groups was for "an action committee" to keep an eye presumably on Congress, to exert all the pressure upon Congress that can be brought, to ride roughshod over any or all opposition.

One Green Smiling Valley

★

The greatest contribution to a sound soil conservation program today would be to present it as it really is in all of its noble, heroic, and vitally important benefits.

India Advises

India, that meditative nation which only occasionally breaks its quiet thought to make some philosophical remark, has finally offered a piece of advice to this tense, troubled world.

It suggests that the great statesmen hereafter attend their conferences without clothing. Nakedness, opines India, would serve to remind the conferees that all men are brothers. Once such a conviction is firmly entrenched most of the barriers to world peace would disappear.

Once the world would have laughed at such a suggestion. But there are now quite a number who feel that conventional efforts are getting nowhere. These have reached the stage they would be willing to try any approach just so long as it hasn't already proved ineffective. The idea has other merits, too. It would assure much shorter conferences where central heating systems are not good—bring about much less talk with its complex involvements and misunderstandings, and bring into the diplomatic picture the younger and more athletic type rather than the aging and paunchy people who are not getting the job done. That in itself would offer a new approach.

Lost Battle

It was a disappointed America which heard the conclusion of 20 experts that gamma globulin did not come through its mass tests for polio control convincingly. They said it did not measurably reduce the number of cases among families exposed to the disease. This means one bright new hope is gone and that polio research must go back to the laboratory. But it does not mean the fight is lost. What was learned will add its contribution to the ultimate and certain victory of science.

Political Strategists Censor Slump Plans

WASHINGTON — Before President Eisenhower sent his economic message to Congress an important debate took place among White House advisers as to whether it should include two remedies for recession. These were:

1—Tax relief in order to stimulate retail trade and business expansion.

2—A public works program to take up the slack resulting from reduced defense orders.

The President's economic advisers wanted such a program spelled out in black and white in the message to Congress. But the public relations advisers (Democrats call them "hucksters") were opposed. They argued that too much emphasis on the recession by the President would create a bad psychological reaction and only increase the recession.

Some also pointed out that if the Democrats were going to be accused of talking us into a recession—as presidential assistant Sherman Adams did shortly thereafter—it was poor strategy for the President to give them any ammunition.

So the public relations advisers triumphed over the economic advisers and the economic message went to Congress without these two recession remedies.

☆ ☆ ☆

Since then the President has disclosed one of the remedies at a press conference—namely tax reduction. However, there remains considerable worry among presidential advisers as to how long they should let the business downturn drift without taking definite action.

Some of Ike's friends on Capitol Hill remember all too vividly the mistake Herbert Hoover made in talking about "prosperity just around the corner" at a time when he was being urged to act rather than talk about the depression.

Among Hoover's advisors at that time were Walter Gifford, head of American Telephone and Telegraph, who was put in charge of unemployment relief; Colonel Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York; and Eugene Meyer, former governor of the Federal Reserve Board and head of the RFC. All urged that he act vigorously, and Meyer advised constructive financial steps in Europe long before the depression clouds got serious.

Hoover, however, did not act—with the resultant economic catastrophe now all too well remembered.

Remembering this, some of the Ike advisers on Capitol Hill urge that he not make the same mistake.

Note—Ex-President Hoover stated again this week that he expected no great depression, and that he considered himself an expert on such things.

DEPRESSION D-DAY

Inside fact is the White House has now fixed two warning signals as D-day for depression When those signals approach, the White House advisers are to advise the President to begin tax cutting and pump priming.

The two D-day signals are:

1. When unemployment reaches the 4,000,000 mark. Since some estimates now put the figure at 3,500,000, this may not be far away.

2. When the production index drops to 14 per cent. At present it's dropped only to 9 per cent.

Meanwhile Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and other big business members of the cabinet are urging their friends in private industry that this is the time to pump private capital into the economy and show that they have confidence in the capitalist system. Wilson's old firm, General Motors, stepped forward as the bellwether by announcing a billion-dollar expansion program. It is hoped that others will follow suit.

Word has been passed out that now is the time for all good businessmen to come to the aid of the party and show that they do not have to fall back on government spending.

☆ ☆ ☆

AIR FORCE OIL MAN

A big oil executive who recently sold gasoline to the Air Force has now been given the job of buying gasoline for the Air Force.

He is W. W. White, vice president of Esso, who while working for that company negotiated a $30,000,000 agreement last year to sell aviation gas to the Air Force overseas. The agreement has been whittled down to $24,300,000 but it still constitutes about two-thirds of all aviation gas that will be used by the Air Force overseas during the current fiscal year.

Now White will walk round to the other side of the table and purchase gasoline for the Air Force. White is not giving up his holdings in Esso, as Secretary of Defense Wilson did in General Motors. In fact he will return to Esso after one year.

White was required to appear before Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson and agree that he would not favor his own company in handling petroleum contracts, after which Wilson told the Air Force he was satisfied White's holdings would not influence his decisions.

In fairness to the Air Force it should be noted that it is hard to get men experienced in this field, and the only field from which they can be secured is the oil industry.

MARQUIS CHILDS

East Germany Anti-Red But Unable To Resist

BERLIN—A map based on the most-thorough intelligence shows the extent of the great popular uprising of the East Germans throughout the Soviet zone last June. It is like a map in an advance command post, which is more or less what West Berlin is, indicating the towns and cities in which large numbers of people demonstrated against their Communist masters.

In 65 centers these demonstrations were so pronounced—walkouts from Communist-controlled plants, marches and angry mass meetings, in many instances the use of stones and crude weapons—as to call for repressive action by hastily summoned tank battalions and troops in the Soviet uniform. That is a measure of the resistance to the Red regime.

All this is, of course, much better known to Moscow than it is to Berlin and Washington. And if any explanation were needed for the unyielding position of Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov at the Berlin conference, this in itself was enough. Those who should know believe that in truly free elections in the East Zone of Germany the Communists would get at most 10 per cent of the vote, and it would probably be less than 5 per cent.

☆ ☆ ☆

How much this means for the longer future is not, however, at all clear. For the West it may mean comparatively little.

The uprisings of last June were put down by force. An estimated 3,000 to 4,000 East Germans were arrested. While some were executed, the majority were jailed. Perhaps an equal number of those conspicuously involved in the uprising escaped to the West.

In relation to the total who participated in one way or another this is not large. But these men and women were the leaders. Their disappearance has left a vacuum not easily filled. And the coercive force of the Soviet army is at hand to back up the puppet police and officials of the puppet East German state.

It is a disservice, therefore, to suggest that the dynamite of a potential revolution is lying all about just across the border. Rumors of a new uprising, circulated while the conference was going on, appear to have had little foundation in fact. Men may use stones against tanks in the climax to long-accumulated grievances. But when they have seen the consequences, they are likely to hesitate to do so a second time.

Unquestionably, conditions are bad in East Germany. But they are believed to be not much worse than they were a year ago or two years ago. And the regime has been holding out promises of more food and clothing.

Since the result of the conference was to make clear that Germany will go on being divided between East and West for an indefinite period of years, West Berlin is once more seen to be, as Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called it, "The first frontier of our freedom" and therefore of the highest importance. It must be both a command post and a show window of Western resolution.

The situation in West Berlin, on the whole, is a favorable one. There has been nothing like the rebuilding that has made over bombed cities such as Frankfurt. But with the extraordinary German capacity for hard work Berlin is producing at a rate about 40 per cent above a year ago. The reconstruction, the brightly lighted shop windows filled with all kinds of consumer goods are in striking contrast to the drabness of East Berlin.

Another effort by the Communists to blockade the west half of the city would fail, and the Communists know it. Because there are large stockpiles of food, fuel and raw material on hand, a second airlift such as saved the city in 1948-49 would be required in only a limited sense. It is estimated that the coal on hand would last a year. During the airlift, organized with such remarkable precision and efficiency, coal and virtually all other necessities were flown into the beleaguered city.

Because the Berlin conference slammed the door on any hope of German unification in the foreseeable future, the never-ending stream of refugees from the East is likely to increase. During the first weeks of this year they were passing through Berlin to West Germany at the rate of more than 2,000 a week. In February a year ago the rate was 10,000 a week. About 100,000 have remained in Berlin, most of them in camps which are pathetically inadequate.

☆ ☆ ☆

The big problem in West Berlin is unemployment. The total today is put at more than 200,000 but that represents a decline of 30 per cent since last year. The drop is due in large part to American funds and to industrial guidance by American officials who have urged new methods on conservative Berlin businessmen.

In West Berlin the returning visitor misses a familiar figure who was both symbol and leader in the dark days when the Communists were confident that this outpost would fall to them. The late Mayor Ernst Reuter had not only courage but with it spirit and humor and a sharp and searching intelligence. So much of the man, who returned from exile when Hitler was overthrown, has gone into saving this frontier.

A Dose Of Doodle Oil For Amateur Anglers

By MONA B. PARKER

Fred A. Marsh, in the Central City Republican Nonpareil: "February-born calves are sure to be the big lusty ones at weaning time in the fall. Stabling of prospective mothers on cold nights entails extra labor, but it has been my experience that no other farm practice pays a higher dividend than that."

☆ ☆ ☆

The most chilling words to any mother, according to Eleanor Seberger in the Dawson County Herald, are these delivered minutes before school time: "I haven't any socks to wear." She discovered several years ago it's easier to have such items accessible downstairs, so saves shoe boxes, labels one for each of her children and keeps them on a shelf in her sewing cabinet. The dissertation on footwear was brought on by a Saturday afternoon spent darning no fewer than 17 pairs for her brood.

☆ ☆ ☆

A young grandmother was telling Mrs. Lester Eastwood of the Pawnee Republican staff about the serious illness of a grandchild. "It's a lot worse to have something wrong with a grandchild than with your own child," she explained. "It's awfully hard to explain, but somehow it's a double hurt—you feel bad because of your child and because of your grandchild, too."

And looking ahead, the woman sighed, "I don't know how I'll ever stand being a great-grandmother."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Neligh News reports this one. The shop instructor in the schools there asked the question: "Name 10 different trees that can be seen walking from the school to the downtown district."

One imaginative youngster responded: "I have never seen any trees walking from school to town."

☆ ☆ ☆

Two little Nebraska girls who live some distance apart had one thing in common—they both had bad weeks. For Corlis Pritchard, who is 7, misfortune piled itself all up into one day. The Pleasant Valley youngster bumped her "crazy bone" so hard at school that she fainted. When she fell, she struck her chin on the floor, cut her lower lip and lost two front teeth.

And little Judy Ahrndt of Scribner went to sleep on a shelf behind the clothes in the closet. Her frantic parents were about to call for help when they found her. Next day at aid society with her mother, she upset her pie and ice cream on the floor, and the following day she tumbled head-first down the neighbors' basement steps. "Just part of being three years old," her wise mother shrugs.

Babies in the North Midland neighborhood near Archer are customarily baptized soon after they are five months old, and in the Floyd Gorgen household they are attired in their grandfather's long flowing white petticoat and baptismal dress. After the laborious washing and ironing of the yards of ruffle and lace, scrubbing and grooming of the infant of the day, and general hectic organization of the rest of the family, the Gorgens settled themselves in a rear pew at Fairview Church amidst "a wrinkled, mussed, drooled upon and sound asleep baby, two bottles of formula (one too hot and one too cold), a toy dog, a teething ring, diaper bag and a man-sized handkerchief. Things went smoothly in spite of all maternal conjectures as the Rev. Dawson Park called parents and infants forward. "You sneak a glance at Floyd and know in an instant he is wishing his son were wearing 'boy' clothes. Then your heart nearly bursts with pride ...Your fears are forgotten . . . It's a picture you'll never forget, your youngest son in your father's christening dress." And then to the hushed congregation, three-year-old Thomas announced that the baby "is just gonna grow up bigger pretty soon now," and "you find yourself stunned with the realization that you spent the entire morning worrying about the wrong boy."

J. C. Naylor took note of a headline in a prominent Midwest daily: "Our TV Beams Reach Mars, Says Scientist."

"So, don't worry," he counseled his readers. "They'll get to Imperial some day."

"On my desk last week I found a bottle of Doodle Oil," wrote Edward S. Krikac in the Comstock News. "It's supposed to catch fish. I don't care if it does catch fish—I wouldn't drink a bottle of that darn stuff if it'd make me catch all the fish in Nebraska."

Modern Honesty

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It is true that honesty is the best policy. But in this modern day and age when everything seems topsy-turvy — especially so in the commercial and political field — one wonders if the adage continues to ring true.

AS TO HONESTY

To err is human, to forgive divine.
Show me a man all down the line.
Without a spot of Adam's taint.
The robe which wraps an earthly saint.

All honest men seek honest gain.
Dishonesty brings grief, and shame,
Whatever man sets out to win.
Depends upon his soul within.

If to myself I am not true,
What means my promise made to you?
Far better not make pledge at all.
Than sip the cup of failure's gall.

Just carry on each working day,
Life's dividends will surely pay.
And when at last comes heavenly rest,
The Lord will say; 'You've done your best.'

Union Decision

Avoca, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The decision made by the Nebraska Farmers Union on price supports for agricultural products looks like a slam on the secretary of agriculture and his talk made at the Union's annual meeting recently in Omaha.

The decision also was a sympathetic airing of its opinion opposing the views of the union's president—just another example where soft pedaling and a timely political stunt failed to dent the Roosevelt New Deal.

Home To Roost

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It was somewhat encouraging to note the rather limited attention given by the press to the vicious charges leveled against Chief Justice Nominee Warren.

The question then comes to mind—would the story have received the same light coverage had Sen. McCarthy rather than Sen. Langer been in charge of the production? The newspapers of our country stand equally guilty and should be judged accordingly with the political limelighters who have become so commonplace in our present-day society. The truly sad result of these antics of the masters of the untruths and half-truths is that they have captured the complete fancy of many of the "Little Orphan Annie" fans and "Dick Tracy" is most amateurish by comparison in his daily sleuthing. "Annie" and "Dick" share the front pages only on Sunday, while their more distinguished counterparts roam at will in the lead headlines daily.

Vice-President Nixon, Sen. Knowland, and Sen. Watkins promptly and correctly labeled the announcement by fellow Republican Langer as "shocki..g," "tommyrot," and "time-wasting." Richard Nixon, never accused of missing an opportunity, even suggested investigating those making the charges. This should be the cue for Super-Investigator McCarthy. However, Joe is busying himself with Army matters for the present and it may be necessary to rush in such substitute headline hunters as Jenner or Velde.

Some of us even noticed that our own Nebraska home-grown gift to Washington, Attorney General Brownell, took the time to denounce the charges against Warren. This is especially significant since the attorney general seems customarily to limit his traitor investigations and public statements accordingly against the former President of the United States.

The Democratic Party is doing very little of a constructive nature to end this disgraceful orgy deal by witch-hunting. If those in a prominent position in the minority party were sincere in their efforts to quell this surging tide of unprincipled attacks on responsible public officials, the party leaders would have immediately rushed to the defense of Gov. Warren. However, it is possibly too much to expect from politicians who have been subjected to the McCarthy ordeal without fair support and vindication from the thinking men in the majority party. The Democratic leaders, although not exonerating themselves from their share of responsibility for allowing this plague to continue, are enjoying the sight of McCarthyism coming home to roost on the party which has clutched this unholy dogma to its breast, regardless of its consequence, primarily for its vote-getting appeal.

It has long been my feeling that if President Eisenhower would take a public stand four-square against McCarthyism, it would clear the air on this entire sorry chapter of our elected legislative officials roaming far and wide outside their regular investigative boundaries and return the matter of Communist investigations to the executive branch of the government. FBI Chief Hoover is well qualified for the direction of such projects and if the office of the attorney general will remove itself from politics, it will have ample time to expose and properly prosecute traitors to our country.

$13,000,00 Mark Set Last Year

The Nebraska State Office of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation has announced that applications for crop insurance this year will probably push the total of policies past the $13,000,000 mark.

This figure was set last year from the large number of policies taken by farmers then, and at the time was the largest policy figure in Nebraska since 1947. Ralph Robertson, state director of the crop insurance corporation, said more than $800,000 were paid out to farmer-policy holders last year for various crop losses, this figure also one of the largest for claims in recent years.

Coming in for a large portion of the $800,000 payment were farmers in Banner, Cheyenne, Kimball and Sioux Counties where crops were extensively damaged by hail. Although drought represents the chief grounds for federal crop insurance payments for crop damage, there were relatively few payments for that type of damage last year.

Covers All Crop Loss.

Robertson explained that this was because the winter wheat came through surprisingly well last year, in spite of dry conditions in many counties. Federal crop insurance covers every type of crop loss, in such insect attacks as rootworm to corn. However, the federal coverage extends to the "lower end of the crop" only. The farmer can receive no payment from the government if he manages to get his investment back on a crop. Only the losses below the investment level are grounds for claims.

Robertson pointed out that federal crop insurance is self-supporting, and that over the years it has managed to build up a small reserve. Premiums vary between counties with the average premium set at 10 per cent of the amount of coverage.

Under recent reorganization ordered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, crop insurance is handled on the local level by private individuals working under agreement with the government. These persons sell insurance and make collections, receiving commission on sales. This work was formerly handled by the county ASC offices or the old PMA offices.

Two Gates Brothers Arraigned On Breaking, Entering Charges

PAWNEE CITY, Neb. (AP)—Two Omaha brothers returned from Tulsa to face charges in connection with an unsuccessful burglary attempt at DuBois, Neb., last Friday morning, were arraigned in County Court Thursday.

They are Lawrence Gates, 40, and Jerold Gates, 19.

Pawnee County Attorney William F. Colwell said County Judge Charles M. Hurd probably would order a preliminary hearing for March 6. They were charged with breaking and entering.

He said the two men had made no statements after their return from Tulsa where they were arrested at a tourist court Sunday evening.

A third brother, Wilbur Gates, 23, was in a Tulsa hospital for treatment of gunshot wounds and Colwell said Pawnee County authorities were considering sending an ambulance for him.

In Tulsa Detective Lt. Earl Beddoe said Gates' physician informed officers that surgery to remove Gates injured eye could not be performed for several days and he could be moved by ambulance.

The trio was arrested in connection with the burglary attempt at the Hayes Liquor store in Du Bois, which ended in a blaze of gunfire as 45-year-old Marvin Hayes, the proprietor, and his son, Robert, surprised the burglars and opened fire with shotguns and a rifle.

One of the burglars was wounded but succeeded in reaching the getaway car.

Colwell said the men have made no statements since their return to Pawnee City.

Ex-Peace Officer Sentenced To Pen

GERING, Neb. (AP) — A former peace officer who pleaded guilty to burning his car to defraud an insurer has been sentenced to three years in the Nebraska penitentiary.

Loren Shelby, 53, was sentenced by District Judge C. B. Perry.

Shelby, a former Mitchell and Ainsworth police officer, had been town marshal at Broadwater for two weeks when his car burned at the outskirts of the town Feb. 14.

Morrill County Attorney Robert Bulger said Judge Perry had requested him to seek a psychiatric examination of Shelby after he is confined at the penitentiary.

Shelby said he had served time in the Missouri penitentiary and Nebraska reformatory on forgery convictions.

Flannigan's Release Is Turned Down

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Hall County Attorney Donald Weaver said Thursday he had refused to turn over to Offutt Air Force Base officials an injured youth who has been charged in connection with a fatal accident.

Weaver said an ambulance from Offutt AFB, Omaha, came to return Daniel W. Flannigan, 18, of Stuart, Neb., a serviceman hospitalized here and charged with motor vehicle homicide in connection with a collision in which Mrs. A. H. Anderson, 60, of Grand Island was killed Tuesday.

The county attorney said an officer has been stationed at the hospital to see that Flannigan was not moved and he declined to release him.

At Omaha an Offutt public information officer said the ambulance driver had been sent to Grand Island to pick up another patient and had subsequently been instructed to offer to pick up Flannigan because of a standing policy to transfer all servicemen from civilian to military hospitals as soon as possible.

The Offutt spokesman said when local authorities refused to release Flannigan base officials offered to place him under arrest at the base hospital and on his recovery turn him over to the criminal investigation department of the Army, for return to civil jurisdiction.

He explained that since Flannigan is attached to a military police company stationed overseas, Offutt's position is merely one of helping the Army transfer a man from a civilian to a military hospital.

The Offutt spokesman said local authorities declined to release Flannigan.

The Nebraska Military District headquarters in Omaha said Flannigan's case is being investigated.

Meanwhile Grand Island hospital authorities said Mrs. Anderson's husband, who was seriously injured in the accident, was making good recovery and was "out of danger" Thursday.

Pawnee County Attorney William F. Colwell said County Judge Charles M. Hurd probably would order a preliminary hearing for March 6. They were charged with breaking and entering.

He said the two men had made no statements after their return from Tulsa where they were arrested at a tourist court Sunday evening.

A third brother, Wilbur Gates, 23, was in a Tulsa hospital for treatment of gunshot wounds and Colwell said Pawnee County authorities were considering sending an ambulance for him.

In Tulsa Detective Lt. Earl Beddoe said Gates' physician informed officers that surgery to remove Gates injured eye could not be performed for several days and he could be moved by ambulance.

The trio was arrested in connection with the burglary attempt at the Hayes Liquor store in Du Bois, which ended in a blaze of gunfire as 45-year-old Marvin Hayes, the proprietor, and his son, Robert, surprised the burglars and opened fire with shotguns and a rifle.

One of the burglars was wounded but succeeded in reaching the getaway car.

Colwell said the men have made no statements since their return to Pawnee City.

Ex-Peace Officer Sentenced To Pen

GERING, Neb. (AP) — A former peace officer who pleaded guilty to burning his car to defraud an insurer has been sentenced to three years in the Nebraska penitentiary.

Loren Shelby, 53, was sentenced by District Judge C. B. Perry.

Shelby, a former Mitchell and Ainsworth police officer, had been town marshal at Broadwater for two weeks when his car burned at the outskirts of the town Feb. 14.

Morrill County Attorney Robert Bulger said Judge Perry had requested him to seek a psychiatric examination of Shelby after he is confined at the penitentiary.

Shelby said he had served time in the Missouri penitentiary and Nebraska reformatory on forgery convictions.

Flannigan's Release Is Turned Down

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Hall County Attorney Donald Weaver said Thursday he had refused to turn over to Offutt Air Force Base officials an injured youth who has been charged in connection with a fatal accident.

Weaver said an ambulance from Offutt AFB, Omaha, came to return Daniel W. Flannigan, 18, of Stuart, Neb., a serviceman hospitalized here and charged with motor vehicle homicide in connection with a collision in which Mrs. A. H. Anderson, 60, of Grand Island was killed Tuesday.

The county attorney said an officer has been stationed at the hospital to see that Flannigan was not moved and he declined to release him.

At Omaha an Offutt public information officer said the ambulance driver had been sent to Grand Island to pick up another patient and had subsequently been instructed to offer to pick up Flannigan because of a standing policy to transfer all servicemen from civilian to military hospitals as soon as possible.

The Offutt spokesman said when local authorities refused to release Flannigan base officials offered to place him under arrest at the base hospital and on his recovery turn him over to the criminal investigation department of the Army, for return to civil jurisdiction.

He explained that since Flannigan is attached to a military police company stationed overseas, Offutt's position is merely one of helping the Army transfer a man from a civilian to a military hospital.

The Offutt spokesman said local authorities declined to release Flannigan.

The Nebraska Military District headquarters in Omaha said Flannigan's case is being investigated.

Meanwhile Grand Island hospital authorities said Mrs. Anderson's husband, who was seriously injured in the accident, was making good recovery and was "out of danger" Thursday.

Mrs. Smuts, 83, Dead

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Mrs. Jan Christian Smuts, widow of South Africa's famed soldier-statesman, died Thursday. She was 83. The former Sybella Kirge, she married Smuts in 1897. Smuts, twice prime minister of South Africa and leader in forming the British commonwealth, died in 1950 at the age of 80. They had two sons and four daughters.

West O Bus Switch Under Advisement

The State Railway Commission after a brief hearing Thursday took under advisement application of the Huskerville Bus Lines to take over the West "O" route now operated by Lincoln City Lines. Both companies contended they would save money and still provide good service.

Victor Anderson, general manager of the Huskerville line, told the commission it had operated at a $15,000 loss during the past 22 months. There were no protests.

Anderson said that despite the $1,000 monthly losses the company wants to continue service to Huskerville and the reactivated air base. They have recently put in operation a new 28 passenger bus.

The application included some adjustment in area rates and Anderson said that experience of bus lines to military installations have not shown profits. He said the company needed civilian passengers. The proposed change would permit service to the Burlington shops.

Joseph Schleckmann, transportation manager of City Lines, said his company was losing money on the West O line and would willingly turn their present passengers over to the Huskerville line.

Norfolk Mayor Upholds Use Of Asphalt For Airport Runways

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP)—Mayor B. A. McCreary of Norfolk has taken issue with the stand of Rep. R. D. Harrison (R-Neb) of Norfolk on the worth of asphalt paving for airport runways.

McCreary said he disagreed with published reports quoting Rep. Harrison as saying the asphalt runways at Karl Stefan field here are not too satisfactory and in need of frequent repair.

Harrison said he passed this opinion on to Air Secretary Talbott after hearing that bids on runways for the Lincoln Air Force Base were lower both for concrete and asphalt. Harrison said he hopes the secretary would consider use of concrete.

McCreary said he has written Secretary Talbott quoting a report from City Engineer H. H. Tracy after an inspection of the runways. He quoted the engineer as saying he found the pavement "is being used every day and has given no trouble at any time since its construction 12 years ago. Since its original construction no repair work has been done on any of this pavement nor has any expense been incurred for any repair."

McCreary said he regarded Rep. Harrison's report as exaggerated.

"With all due respect to Congressman Harrison," McCreary wrote, "I do wish to set you straight regarding this matter . . ."

A contract for the construction of asphalt runways at the Lincoln Base has been awarded to the Amis Construction Co. of Oklahoma City and San Ore Construction Co. of McPherson, Kan., on their bid of $3,551,644.37. The low concrete bid of $4,022,702.33 was submitted by Abel-Dobson-Robinson of Lincoln.

Mayor Clark Jeary of Lincoln sent a copy of a review by City Engineer D. L. Erickson of the use of concrete and asphalt to Harrison and other Nebraska congressional representatives.

Elevator Fall Injures Man

Henry Pape Jr., 54, of Cortland, is reported in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital following a fall in an elevator pit in which his right leg was broken in two places.

Pape fell two stories into the pit of the elevator shaft after he opened the door thinking the elevator was at that floor.

Jack Andrews, company secretary, said a mechanical failure had permitted the door to the elevator to be opened when the elevator was not at the right floor. Andrews said Pape luckily had been able to grab the cable hanging from the bottom of the elevator itself which, he said, broke the fall.

Since its original construction no repair work has been done on any of this pavement nor has any expense been incurred for any repair."

McCreary said he regarded Rep. Harrison's report as exaggerated.

"With all due respect to Congressman Harrison," McCreary wrote, "I do wish to set you straight regarding this matter . . ."

A contract for the construction of asphalt runways at the Lincoln Base has been awarded to the Amis Construction Co. of Oklahoma City and San Ore Construction Co. of McPherson, Kan., on their bid of $3,551,644.37. The low concrete bid of $4,022,702.33 was submitted by Abel-Dobson-Robinson of Lincoln.

Mayor Clark Jeary of Lincoln sent a copy of a review by City Engineer D. L. Erickson of the use of concrete and asphalt to Harrison and other Nebraska congressional representatives.

Elevator Fall Injures Man

Henry Pape Jr., 54, of Cortland, is reported in good condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital following a fall in an elevator pit in which his right leg was broken in two places.

Pape fell two stories into the pit of the elevator shaft after he opened the door thinking the elevator was at that floor.

Jack Andrews, company secretary, said a mechanical failure had permitted the door to the elevator to be opened when the elevator was not at the right floor. Andrews said Pape luckily had been able to grab the cable hanging from the bottom of the elevator itself which, he said, broke the fall.

Last Of Red Diplomatic Posts In U.S. Outside Of Washington Is Shut Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department Thursday slammed the door on the last remaining Iron Curtain diplomatic posts in this country outside of Washington.

The action came in a note from Secretary Dulles to Jozef Winiewicz, the Polish ambassador, instructing him to see to it that Polish consulates general in New York, Chicago and Detroit are closed as soon as possible.

These offices, Dulles said, "serve no useful purposes in the conduct or relations between the United States and Poland at the present time."

Ferguson Applauds

Sen. Ferguson (R - Mich) promptly applauded the move in a Senate speech. He said he could vouch for the fact that the Polish consulate in Detroit has served "no useful purpose."

Rep. Chiperfield (R-Ill), chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, told the House he, too, approved the move.

"Apparently," Chiperfield said, "these consulates have been used as outlets for Communist propaganda and do not serve any useful purpose as far as our interest is concerned."

Rep. Machrowicz (D-Mich) said he was "very happy over the outcome" of what he described as his efforts to get the consulates closed

Operating Since 1919

A State Department spokesman declined to answer a question as to whether the closedown was ordered at the request of congressmen.

The three Polish consulates, which employ about 22 Polish nationals, have been in operation for a generation. The New York office, first to gain recognition, was opened in 1919.

Seven Iron Curtain consulates have been closed in this country since 1948 when Russia, on her own initiative, shut the doors on her consulates in New York and San Francisco.

In the intervening years, Romanian, Czech and Hungarian offices have been ordered closed. In addition, Bulgaria has had no diplomatic representation in the United States at all since diplomatic relations were severed Feb. 24, 1950.

All the other Iron Curtain lands maintain embassies or legations in Washington.

In addition to the U. S. embassy at Warsaw, this government has a building, operated on a caretaker basis, in Danzig. The last U. S. official was withdrawn from Danzig in late 1950.

Churchill Urges West Trade With Soviet

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill Thursday urged the West to seek more trade with the Soviet Union in an effort to reach "a work-a-day understanding with the Russian people and government."

Churchill

He coupled this with a call to the democracies to bolster their policy of "peace through strength" by accepting a German military contribution to the defense of Western Europe.

Finally, the 79-year-old prime minister—still searching for some way to resolve East-West tensions—suggested the major powers hold in diplomatic reserve his proposal for a private meeting of the world's top leaders. He stressed, however, that it would be extremely dangerous to call such a meeting when there was little chance of success and so "use this resource in vain."

The House of Commons cheered when he said:

"Patience and perserverence must never be grudged when the peace of the world is at stake.

"Even if we have to go through a decade of cold war, bickerings and vain parlance, that would be preferable to the catalogue of unspeakable and unimaginable horrors which is the alternative."

Churchill expressed confidence that the Asian conference in Geneva on April 26 will produce "fruitful results." He pointed out the Geneva talks will bring together diplomats of the United States and Communist China and said:

"There is nothing improper in belligerents meeting to discuss their affairs even while actual battles are going on."

He described the agreement to hold the Geneva conference on Korean and Indo-Chinese problems as "one outstanding, hopeful result" of the recently concluded Four Power Foreign Ministers Conference in Berlin.

In Churchill's view the Berlin conference had some favorable results—"it restored the reputation of such meetings after some very unfortunate examples. . . New contacts, indeed, have been established at various levels."

Spelling out his hopes for a revival of trade with Russia, Churchill said:

"I do not suggest that at the present time there should be any traffic in military equipment, including certain machine tools such as those capable of making weapons.

"But a substantial relaxation of the regulations affecting manufactured goods, raw materials and shipping . . . would undoubtedly be beneficial in its proper setting, bearing in mind all the military and other arguments."

He said the regulations preventing shipment of certain goods to Russia were drawn up three or four years ago in different circumstances than prevail now, and added his government was examining and discussing these regulations with his officials.

Potter Lions Club Drops Telephone Hike Protest

The Potter, Neb., Lions Club Thursday became the third such group to withdraw its protest against the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s request to the Railway Commission for a rate increase.

The letter said a company representative had outlined to the club the reasons for seeking a rate increase.

Other groups withdrawing their protests against the proposed increase were the Minden Chamber of Commerce and the Homer Commercial Club.

Two Building Sites Okayed By Council

Two new building sites, one for rental housing and one for homes to sell, have been approved by the City Planning Commission.

The rental plat contains 76 lots in an area between 49th and 56th from Fremont to the Rock Island tracks on which the Lincoln Home Builders Association plans to erect a number of fourplexes. The project has been referred to as a development for Air Base personnel.

Also approved by the Commission was the plat of the First Addition to Eastridge which contains 396 lots in an area between Randolph and A from 56th to 63rd. James A. Strauss, who submitted the plat, stated that there are now 106 homes constructed in the original Eastridge plat north of Randolph and the area will eventually contain 134 homes.

Construction in the new plat to the south, said Strauss, will commence May 1 and continue until the 396 homes are completed.

The Commission also recommended City Council approval of a local business area 705 by 627 feet at the northeast corner of 56th and A in Strauss' First Addition. The following applications were also acted upon by the Commission:

Revlat of two lots in Country Club Terrace being along 20th south of Stockwell, approved.

Commercial zoning of three lots on the south side of M and three lots on the north side of M east of 17th, approved.

Light industrial zoning of one lot on the south side of Plum between Park Blvd. and 8th, approved.

Permit for operation of a nursing home at 5642 Leighton, approved.

Permit for operation of a nursing home at 1620 A, denied.

Permit for child care center at 3933 Touzalin, approved.

Churchill Urges West Trade With Soviet

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill Thursday urged the West to seek more trade with the Soviet Union in an effort to reach "a work-a-day understanding with the Russian people and government."

Churchill

He coupled this with a call to the democracies to bolster their policy of "peace through strength" by accepting a German military contribution to the defense of Western Europe.

Finally, the 79-year-old prime minister—still searching for some way to resolve East-West tensions—suggested the major powers hold in diplomatic reserve his proposal for a private meeting of the world's top leaders. He stressed, however, that it would be extremely dangerous to call such a meeting when there was little chance of success and so "use this resource in vain."

The House of Commons cheered when he said:

"Patience and perserverence must never be grudged when the peace of the world is at stake.

"Even if we have to go through a decade of cold war, bickerings and vain parlance, that would be preferable to the catalogue of unspeakable and unimaginable horrors which is the alternative."

Churchill expressed confidence that the Asian conference in Geneva on April 26 will produce "fruitful results." He pointed out the Geneva talks will bring together diplomats of the United States and Communist China and said:

"There is nothing improper in belligerents meeting to discuss their affairs even while actual battles are going on."

He described the agreement to hold the Geneva conference on Korean and Indo-Chinese problems as "one outstanding, hopeful result" of the recently concluded Four Power Foreign Ministers Conference in Berlin.

In Churchill's view the Berlin conference had some favorable results—"it restored the reputation of such meetings after some very unfortunate examples. . . New contacts, indeed, have been established at various levels."

Spelling out his hopes for a revival of trade with Russia, Churchill said:

"I do not suggest that at the present time there should be any traffic in military equipment, including certain machine tools such as those capable of making weapons.

"But a substantial relaxation of the regulations affecting manufactured goods, raw materials and shipping . . . would undoubtedly be beneficial in its proper setting, bearing in mind all the military and other arguments."

He said the regulations preventing shipment of certain goods to Russia were drawn up three or four years ago in different circumstances than prevail now, and added his government was examining and discussing these regulations with his officials.

Two Building Sites Okayed By Council

Two new building sites, one for rental housing and one for homes to sell, have been approved by the City Planning Commission.

The rental plat contains 76 lots in an area between 49th and 56th from Fremont to the Rock Island tracks on which the Lincoln Home Builders Association plans to erect a number of fourplexes. The project has been referred to as a development for Air Base personnel.

Also approved by the Commission was the plat of the First Addition to Eastridge which contains 396 lots in an area between Randolph and A from 56th to 63rd. James A. Strauss, who submitted the plat, stated that there are now 106 homes constructed in the original Eastridge plat north of Randolph and the area will eventually contain 134 homes.

Construction in the new plat to the south, said Strauss, will commence May 1 and continue until the 396 homes are completed.

The Commission also recommended City Council approval of a local business area 705 by 627 feet at the northeast corner of 56th and A in Strauss' First Addition. The following applications were also acted upon by the Commission:

Replat of two lots in Country Club Terrace being along 20th south of Stockwell, approved.

Commercial zoning of three lots on the south side of M and three lots on the north side of M east of 17th, approved.

Light industrial zoning of one lot on the south side of Plum between Park Blvd. and 8th, approved.

Permit for operation of a nursing home at 5642 Leighton, approved.

Permit for operation of a nursing home at 1820 A, denied.

Preview Of An Art Show

MRS. NORMAN SHAW

Like Alice stepping into Looking Glass House I stepped into a world just as strange to me, the world of art and paintings. On each new visit to the galleries at Morrill Hall I saw something new. It became almost a voyage of discovery. I found an abstract with a quiet classical quality in an intricate design of blues, greys and gold, by Jimmy Ernst, son of the surrealist Max Ernst. Saw "Ile De La Cite" by Claude Venard. Quiet bridges and houses at dawn in a symphony of greys and pinks. Remember the review by Time magazine of Francis Bacon's "Study For A Portrait?" One of them is in this year's exhibit. He is Pope Innocent Xth in blues and greys, and said by the people who know their art, to be repellent. I saw in him the quiet and strength of a philosopher. A Pereira sparkles like a jewel in a white frame, "Affluent Surface." Colors and shapes go in all directions and pieces of netting dipped in color stand out on parchment in rich shades. In a painting by Sidney Simon there is the most gruesome man on a flying trapeze you will ever find. He is a weird, eerie haze of greens and looks to me more like a descent into Hell.

I tried and failed to make any sense of two exhibits, one a series of black daubs on a white background by Franz Klein; the other a piece of sculpture in iron by David Smith "Question and Answer." But on each new visit to the galleries I was drawn to the moving paintings by Gwathmey. He paints the southern Negroes working in the fields and tells a moving story in just the bent figure of a cotton picker, or the misshapen hands and feet of an old colored woman. For real discovery I find I must return to the exhibit many times; to be amused by the "Cat In Love" or the cats in "Dream Garden" To see the quiet of "Tracks" by Prestopino; to see "The Beautiful Rose," or perhaps even to discover finally that I prefer not any of these but a new group of paintings I have as yet passed by.

Soroptimists Plan An Annual Custom

The Soroptimist Club's minutes of the organization's Wednesday night meeting doubtless will include the word "innovation." For on Wednesday evening the Soroptimist Club members began a tradition which is to be carried on annually.

The club was hostess to the other two Lincoln clubs—Quota and Altrusa—which also are classified as service groups, that were represented at the Wednesday night affair by their officers.

The program included a color film on "Flower Arrangements and Gardens Through the Seasons of Williamsburg," and later in the evening refreshments were served from a table appointed with floral arrangements in red, white and blue.

Chapter, CS, PEO

Mrs. W. F. Hoppe Jr., will be hostess to the members of Chapter CS, PEO, at her home at 1900 Dakota, at 1 o'clock, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. H. W. Potter Sr., will be in charge of the program.

Law Wives

The members of the University of Nebraska Law Wives will meet at 7:30 o'clock, Tuesday evening, March 2 at the Gas Kitchen. Following a demonstration on cooking by Mrs. Bruce Evans, a film will be shown.

Assisting hostesses for the social hour include Mrs. Al Decker and Mrs. Donn Davis.

The Star Welcomes:

Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Phillips and their two children, Benjamin, who is 10 and a half years old, and Alice Louise, who is just five and a half. The Phillips family arrived just in time for the second semester at the University of Nebraska where Mr. Phillips is an instructor in tax and legal accounting at the college of law. Both Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, incidentally, have law degrees. Mr. Phillips received his from Columbia university, and Mrs. Phillips, who is a graduate of Hunter college, devoted her evenings to law classes at Brooklyn Law college. Her evenings were spent in the class room because her days were spent careering in one of Wall street's financial offices.

For Benjamin the public school in Lincoln is an entirely new type of education, for he formerly attended the renowned elementary school at Hunter college.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips and their family are residing at 615 Eldon Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. David and their daughter, Catharine, just 21 months old, who are residing at 3323 Starr. Mr. David is working toward his doctorate in chemistry and is a graduate assistant in that department at the University of Nebraska. He is a graduate of Princeton University where he was a member of Charter, and he and his attractive wife moved to Lincoln from New Brunswick, N. J.

Although she took English and history as her majors at Northwestern University, Mrs. David graduated from the Whitman School of Interior Design in New York City. She is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and is originally from Milwaukee, Wisconsin. During her erstwhile spare time as a "golf-widow," Mrs. David did a great deal of sewing, concentrating on table and household linens.

So Good To The Taste

Plain pumpkin pie, well made, is good—pumpkin pie dressed up is extra good—and there are so many ways to make it elegant—Chopped nuts, whole nut meats, candied orange rind or ginger make tasty embellishments—But here is the basic recipe:

PUMPKIN PIE

¾ cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
1½ cups cooked or canned pumpkins
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 tall can evaporated milk (1⅔ cups)
1 9-inch unbaked pie shell

Add the sugar, salt, and spices to the pumpkin. Add the eggs and mix well. Gradually stir in the evaporated milk. Pour into an unbaked 9-inch pie shell and bake in a 400 degree oven for 35-40 minutes. If a glass pie plate is used, bake at 375 degrees for approximately 55 minutes.

Watch The Facial Contours

Can a face that is too thin be improved? Yes, it can. Through systematic exercising of the muscles, fresh blood is brought into the area and along with it, increased nourishment. As the muscles are worked, they will enlarge and round the contours.

Keep in mind that exercises performed very slowly tend to increase an area, while those performed rapidly reduce it.

Here is how:

Take a deep breath and hold it. Now while you slowly count to five, blow the air out through the mouth, keeping the cheeks and mouth tight against the teeth. Repeat five times.

Next, fill the cheeks with air and open your mouth as little as possible and force the air out of your cheeks as slowly as you can. Again, repeat five times.

Then, again filling the lungs, relax your lips completely and force the air out in such a manner that they flutter. Repeat five times.

Run through the above exercises at least twice daily. Three sessions are even better.

And here's a real surpriser! Eat an apple a day—not necessarily for nourishment but for the exercise involved. Nibble away, in the littlest bites. You will note that this pulls a great many of the facial muscles into play.

In the meantime, take advantage of these principles of line to minimize the thinness of the face:

Wear your hair as soft and fluffy as its body will permit. Avoid any rigid or set look to the coiffure. Upcurving lines should be encouraged as much as possible. Drooping lines will only accent thinness.

In choosing make-up, be sure that your foundation and powder are as light as your skin permits. Make-up that is too dark will tend to minimize the size of your face.

In applying rouge, make the face appear fuller by using broad, sweeping strokes that start no lower than your nose and as distant from it as the pupils of your eyes. Let the rouge sweep out and up well over to the temples.

These tricks will immediately give your face an illusion of greater roundness while you await the fullness resulting from exercise!

Your Diet Recipe

As your self-appointed conscience and weight watcher, we couldn't bear to let all the low calory recipes by Ann Williams-Heller go unnoticed. Several times a week we will tackle the problem from the proverbial appetizer to alkalizer, so try some Borsch this evening, served either hot or cold.

BORSCH

(54 Calories Per Serving)

Shred 6 medium young beets, unpeeled, and cover with cold water. Bring to boil. Remove scum, and add juice of 1 lemon, and salt to taste. Cover and simmer until beets are tender. You may chill the soup for two hours or longer or serve immediately topped with 2 T. yoghurt and chopped chives to 6 people. If a smoother soup is desired, whiz in an electric blendor or force through a sieve.

Preview Of An Art Show

MRS. NORMAN SHAW

Like Alice stepping into Looking Glass House I stepped into a world just as strange to me, the world of art and paintings. On each new visit to the galleries at Morrill Hall I saw something new. It became almost a voyage of discovery. I found an abstract with a quiet classical quality in an intricate design of blues, greys and gold, by Jimmy Ernst, son of the surrealist Max Ernst. Saw "Ile De La Cite" by Claude Venard. Quiet bridges and houses at dawn in a symphony of greys and pinks. Remember the review by Time magazine of Francis Bacon's "Study For A Portrait?" One of them is in this year's exhibit. He is Pope Innocent Xth in blues and greys, and said by the people who know their art, to be repellent. I saw in him the quiet and strength of a philosopher. A Pereira sparkles like a jewel in a white frame, "Affluent Surface." Colors and shapes go in all directions and pieces of netting dipped in color stand out on parchment in rich shades. In a painting by Sidney Simon there is the most gruesome man on a flying trapeze you will ever find. He is a weird, errie haze of greens and looks to me more like a descent into Hell.

I tried and failed to make any sense of two exhibits, one a series of black daubs on a white background by Franz Klein; the other a piece of sculpture in iron by David Smith "Question and Answer." But on each new visit to the galleries I was drawn to the moving paintings by Gwathmey. He paints the southern Negroes working in the fields and tells a moving story in just the bent figure of a cotton picker, or the misshapen hands and feet of an old colored woman. For real discovery I find I must return to the exhibit many times; to be amused by the "Cat In Love" or the cats in "Dream Garden." To see the quiet of "Tracks" by Prestopino; to see "The Beautiful Rose," or perhaps even to discover finally that I prefer not any of these but a new group of paintings I have as yet passed by.

Soroptimists Plan An Annual Custom

The Soroptimist Club's minutes of the organization's Wednesday night meeting doubtless will include the word "innovation." For on Wednesday evening the Soroptimist Club members began a tradition which is to be carried on annually.

The club was hostess to the other two Lincoln clubs—Quota and Altrusa—which also are classified as service groups, that were represented at the Wednesday night affair by their officers.

The program included a color film on "Flower Arrangements and Gardens Through the Seasons of Williamsburg," and later in the evening refreshments were served from a table appointed with floral arrangements in red, white and blue.

Chapter, CS, PEO

Mrs. W. F. Hoppe Jr., will be hostess to the members of Chapter CS, PEO, at her home at 1900 Dakota, at 1 o'clock, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. H. W. Potter Sr., will be in charge of the program.

Law Wives

The members of the University of Nebraska Law Wives will meet at 7:30 o'clock, Tuesday evening, March 2 at the Gas Kitchen. Following a demonstration on cooking by Mrs. Bruce Evans, a film will be shown.

Assisting hostesses for the social hour include Mrs. Al Decker and Mrs. Donn Davis.

The Star Welcomes:

Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Phillips and their two children, Benjamin, who is 10 and a half years old, and Alice Louise, who is just five and a half. The Phillips family arrived just in time for the second semester at the University of Nebraska where Mr. Phillips is an instructor in tax and legal accounting at the college of law. Both Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, incidentally, have law degrees. Mr. Phillips received his from Columbia university, and Mrs. Phillips, who is a graduate of Hunter college, devoted her evenings to law classes at Brooklyn Law college. Her evenings were spent in the class room because her days were spent careering in one of Wall street's financial offices.

For Benjamin the public school in Lincoln is an entirely new type of education, for he formerly attended the renowned elementary school at Hunter college.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips and their family are residing at 615 Eldon Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. David and their daughter, Catharine, just 21 months old, who are residing at 3323 Starr. Mr. David is working toward his doctorate in chemistry and is a graduate assistant in that department at the University of Nebraska. He is a graduate of Princeton University where he was a member of Charter, and he and his attractive wife moved to Lincoln from New Brunswick, N. J.

Although she took English and history as her majors at Northwestern University, Mrs. David graduated from the Whitman School of Interior Design in New York City. She is a member of Delta Gamma sorority and is originally from Milwaukee, Wisconsin. During her erstwhile spare time as a "golf-widow," Mrs. David did a great deal of sewing, concentrating on table and household linens.

So Good To The Taste

Plain pumpkin pie, well made, is good—pumpkin pie dressed up is extra good—and there are so many ways to make it elegant—Chopped nuts, whole nut meats, candied orange rind or ginger make tasty embellishments—But here is the basic recipe:

PUMPKIN PIE

¾ cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
1½ cups cooked or canned pumpkins
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 tall can evaporated milk (1⅔ cups)
1 9-inch unbaked pie shell

Add the sugar, salt, and spices to the pumpkin. Add the eggs and mix well. Gradually stir in the evaporated milk. Pour into an unbaked 9-inch pie shell and bake in a 400 degree oven for 35-40 minutes. If a glass pie plate is used, bake at 375 degrees for approximately 55 minutes.

Can a face that is too thin be improved? Yes, it can. Through systematic exercising of the muscles, fresh blood is brought into the area and along with it, increased nourishment. As the muscles are worked, they will enlarge and round the contours.

Keep in mind that exercises performed very slowly tend to increase an area, while those performed rapidly reduce it.

Here is how:

Take a deep breath and hold it. Now while you slowly count to five, blow the air out through the mouth, keeping the cheeks and mouth tight against the teeth. Repeat five times.

Next, fill the cheeks with air and open your mouth as little as possible and force the air out of your cheeks as slowly as you can. Again, repeat five times.

Then, again filling the lungs, relax your lips completely and force the air out in such a manner that they flutter. Repeat five times.

Run through the above exercises at least twice daily. Three sessions are even better.

And here's a real surpriser! Eat an apple a day—not necessarily for nourishment but for the exercise involved. Nibble away, in the littlest bites. You will note that this pulls a great many of the facial muscles into play.

In the meantime, take advantage of these principles of line to minimize the thinness of the face:

Wear your hair as soft and fluffy as its body will permit. Avoid any rigid or set look to the coiffure. Upcurving lines should be encouraged as much as possible. Drooping lines will only accent thinness.

In choosing make-up, be sure that your foundation and powder are as light as your skin permits. Make-up that is too dark will tend to minimize the size of your face.

In applying rouge, make the face appear fuller by using broad, sweeping strokes that start no lower than your nose and as distant from it as the pupils of your eyes. Let the rouge sweep out and up well over to the temples.

These tricks will immediately give your face an illusion of greater roundness while you await the fullness resulting from exercise!

Miss Gayle Ehrlich Weds

MRS. GARY C. LYON

The marriage of Miss Gayle Ehrlich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvie E. Ehrlich, to Gary C. Lyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Merle Lyon, took place on Thursday evening, Feb. 25, at the College View Community Church.

The Rev. E. L. Jeamby, minister of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, read the lines of the 8 o'clock service.

Miss Margaret Dugdale, the maid of honor, Mrs. Dwayne Goldsmith and Miss Karen Lyon, the bridesmaids wore alike frocks of white lace and net over satin. The strapless lace bodices were snugly fitted above the wide net-over-satin skirts that were worn over hoops. Their costumes were completed with shoulder cover-ups of net, and lace and net calots. Each carried a cascade bouquet of shell pink carnations. Linnie Jean Shander was the flower girl.

Dwayne Goldsmith served Mr. Lyon as best man, and seating the guests were Roger Hornby and Dwald Van Cleave.

The bride appeared in a gown of monastery white Chantilly lace over satin designed in the princess mode. The bare-shouldered bodice was contoured with an Elizabethan fischu beneath which were four tiers of lace petals, and the wide, floor-length skirt was worn over hoops. Her ensemble was completed with a long-sleeved bolero jacket of lace designed with a calla lily collar. Her circular veil of bridal illuson was held to the head with a half-hat of lace and illusion, banded in satin and dotted with pearls. She carried a white Bible marked with lavender orchids from which fell a shower of satin ribbon and flowerettes.

Following the reception, held in the church parlors, Mr. Lyon and his bride left for a short honeymoon trip after which Mrs. Lyon will return to Lincoln, and the bridegroom will go to San Francisco to report for navy sea duty. For traveling Mrs. Lyon wore a gray wool suit.

Miss Gayle Ehrlich Weds

MRS. GARY C. LYON

The marriage of Miss Gayle Ehrlich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvie E. Ehrlich, to Gary C. Lyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Merle Lyon, took place on Thursday evening, Feb. 25, at the College View Community Church.

The Rev. E. L. Jeamby, minister of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, read the lines of the 8 o'clock service.

Miss Margaret Dugdale, the maid of honor, Mrs. Dwayne Goldsmith and Miss Karen Lyon, the bridesmaids wore alike frocks of white lace and net over satin. The strapless lace bodices were snugly fitted above the wide net-over-satin skirts that were worn over hoops. Their costumes were completed with shoulder cover-ups of net, and lace and net calots. Each carried a cascade bouquet of shell pink carnations. Linnie Jean Shander was the flower girl.

Dwayne Goldsmith served Mr. Lyon as best man, and seating the guests were Roger Hornby and Dwald Van Cleave.

The bride appeared in a gown of monastery white Chantilly lace over satin designed in the princess mode. The bare-shouldered bodice was contoured with an Elizabethan fischu beneath which were four tiers of lace petals, and the wide, floor-length skirt was worn over hoops. Her ensemble was completed with a long-sleeved bolero jacket of lace designed with a calla lily collar. Her circular veil of bridal illuson was held to the head with a half-hat of lace and illusion, banded in satin and dotted with pearls. She carried a white Bible marked with lavender orchids from which fell a shower of satin ribbon and flowerettes.

Following the reception, held in the church parlors, Mr. Lyon and his bride left for a short honeymoon trip after which Mrs. Lyon will return to Lincoln, and the bridegroom will go to San Francisco to report for navy sea duty. For traveling Mrs. Lyon wore a gray wool suit.

'Missouri Plan' Petitions Will Be Circulated

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Petitions will be circulated by attorneys and others in the state to have submitted to the voters the so-called "Missouri plan" or merit system of selecting judges of the supreme and district courts and some county and municipal courts.

The form of the petition was submitted to the secretary of state Thursday by George H. Turner, secretary of the State Bar Association, and Robert Van Pelt, Lincoln, chairman of the association's judiciary committee. The proposal has been under consideration for several years.

The proposed change in the constitution would provide for appointment of the judges by the governor from a list of three recommended to him by a special committee. At the expiration of the term for which appointed they would then be eligible to appear on the ballot for approval or rejection of the voters.

Committees for selection of the Supreme Court members would consist of six laymen appointed by the governor and six lawyers selected by mail ballot of lawyers eligible to practice before the highest court in the state.

The governor would be required to make his selection from a list of three names of lawyers selected by this committee. Incumbent judges would not be affected unless at expiration of their terms they are rejected by the voters or vacancies occur.

Improved Judiciary

Experience of Missouri and other states that have adopted similar plans indicate that an improved judiciary results from the committees selecting their list of recommendations on a basis of merit. In Missouri, unsatisfactory judges have been rejected by the voters.

Committees to recommend three lawyers for appointment as district judges would consist of three laymen residing in the district and three lawyers selected by ballot of the qualified lawyers residing in the district.

The supreme court would name one of its justices to act as chairman of the committees but ineligible to vote.

Counties with a population of more than 100,000 and other counties where the voters so desire would select county judges in the same manner.

Similar Manner

Municipal judges in cities having a population of more than 40,000 would be selected in a corresponding manner.

The various committees which would make recommendations would serve without pay.

The chief justice would continue to be selected from the state at large and the associate justices and district judges from districts designated by the Legislature on a population basis as at present.

'Missouri Plan' Petition Filed

The form of the petition, which will be circulated to effect a change in the Constitution and permit judges to be selected under the "Missouri Plan," is submitted by Robert Van Pelt (left), chairman of the judiciary committee of the State Bar Association, to Secretary of State Frank Marsh. # Parleys Set On Preference Power Needs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Reclamation Bureau and preference power customers in the Western division of the Missouri Basin Thursday were about 55,000 kilowatts apart on the preference groups' needs by 1956. A series of conferences in the West was called.

The division consists of Wyoming west of the Continental Divide, Colorado and Western Nebraska. Preference customers are public agencies and rural electric co-operatives.

The bureau announced that the preference groups have applied to buy 214,886 kilowatts by 1956, including present commitments. But, the bureau said, it figured they would need only 160,300 kilowatts by that time.

Three Top Officials

Secretary of the Interior McKay announced that because applications exceed the power scheduled to become available, three top department officials, headed by Assistant Secretary Fred G. Aandahl, would meet interested parties in Denver March 9 and 10 to explain the latest study of the situation.

The official party will then go to Casper, Wyo., March 11 for a simlar meeting.

Applications for power from both preference and non-preference customers in the Western division of the basin total 330,943 kilowatts, the Reclamation Bureau said. This is 197,723 kilowatts more than the present contract commitments, the bureau said, and 73,728 more than the total uncommitted power it expects to have available by 1956.

Dexheimer Statement

Reclamation Commissioner W. A. Dexheimer discussed his bureau's new study in a statement:

"The integrated power plants in the Western division of the Missouri River basin have a total firm capacity of 250,000 kilowatts. The existing bureau commitments under executed contracts are 133,215 kilowatts, leaving 117,000 kilowatts of uncommitted power. That amount may be increased to 124,000 kilowatts.

"The total applications for power, from preference and non-preference customers, is 330,943 kilowatts. This 197,728 kilowatts more than the present rate of delivery.

"In reviewing the applications for power in relation to the power available for sale, it was apparent that the supply was insufficient to satisfy total requests of both public and private utilities. In addition, the applications indicated a wide variance as to loads and the load growth the applicants expected.

1956 Load Estimates

"In order to determine the relationship of the additional power supply to the additional power required by preference applicants in the area, the bureau made estimates of 1956 loads. The present contract rate of delivery to preference customers is 84,010 kilowatts; the estimated 1956 load is 160,300. Additional power needed to meet the demands of preference customers is therefore estimated at 76,290 kilowatts, leaving 47,710 kilowatts available for contract."

Dexheimer made public a table showing that the bureau estimated that the bureau estimated the total 1956 load for preference and non-preference ustomers at 265,430 kilowatts, or 15,430 kilowatts more than the firm capacity the bureau expects to have available.

Bureau officials said, however, that private utilities listed for a load of 94,400 kilowatts in 1956 would have to make up the deficit, if it actually develops.

McKay said that Aandahl would go to Lincoln, Neb., to attend a meeting on March 8 of Nebraska Rural Electric Association on his way to Denver.

For the Denver and Casper meetings the assistant secretary will be joined by Assistant Reclamation Commissioner Harvey Mc-Phail and Henry Taliaferro, chief of reclamation's division of power.

Each applicant for power in the Western division has been sent a summary of the new study and officials of private utilites and officials of private utilities and preference customers have been invited to the meetings.

McKay said Ancher Nelsen, Rural Electrification administrator, also has been invited to participate in the discussions with preference customers.

Meyers Farm Site Of New Oil Test

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—A new oil test on the Henry Meyers farm, about a mile west of here, is expected to be made soon by J. Palensky & Sons.

Last year the Palenskys drilled a well within a half mile of the present location and reported a good showing of oil. The well, however, was not a commercial producer.

Polled Hereford Breeders Enter Stock In Event

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP)—Eighteen breeders of registered Polled Herefords from three states have entered 55 head of breeding stock in the 14th semi-annual show of the Tri-State Polled Hereford Association Monday.

The animals will be judged during the morning by Prof. T. R. Blackburn of Colorado A&M College. Col. Charles Corkle, Norfolk auctioneer, will sell the cattle in the afternoon.

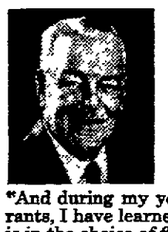
:::from the knowledge of fine baking gained in America's famous eating places comes

NEW Duncan Hines Flour



"I've tasted the best baking in America"... says: Duncan Hines
AMERICA'S FOREMOST AUTHORITY ON GOOD EATING

"And during my years of eating in America's famous restaurants, I have learned that one of the secrets of truly fine baking is in the choice of flour.

"Knowing what a difference flour can make has led me to bring out my own—especially perfected for home baking. It is milled by a miller who practices the art of flour making—the same miller who makes all my cake mixes, buttermilk pancake mix and blueberry muffin mix.

"I hope you will try it. I think you will find it actually improves your baking results."

Flour

... milled to be a "flexible" flour that allows for variations in home baking conditions.

Remember how good hot breads and pastries have tasted in certain restaurants you've visited? Now the kind of flour that will make your baking remembered is here. A new flour, perfected to allow for those variations that are unavoidable in home baking... so sure to give you fine baking every time that Duncan Hines guarantees it (with a money-back offer) even under these conditions:

1. When you're interrupted by the doorbell, telephone or a household crisis, an ordinary flour is apt to "let you down"; your baking suffers in texture and lightness.
2. When your oven temperature isn't perfectly accurate you know what can happen. Your baking fails to rise right, or rises and then falls.

But not when you use new Duncan Hines Flour! Special highly skilled milling knowledge makes this a "flexible" flour. It adjusts to little variations in time and temperature because it's made of selected wheats... the kinds that perform best in the oven and work best with yeast, baking powder or soda. Your baking rises high and light, and holds that peak of perfection.

And don't worry about a little overmixing or undermixing. Naturally, you should follow your recipes exactly—but a few strokes more or less in beating or kneading won't alter the wonderful results you get.

Even tricky recipes are easy to handle with Duncan Hines Flour... sifted through silk to make it fine enough for the most delicate baking, yet it has the stamina needed for easy mixing and handling in any recipe.

New Duncan Hines Flour, enriched for extra nutrition, is at your grocer's now. Get a sack today—try it with your favorite recipes!

Now you can make Duncan Hines' Favorite Meals in your own home! In every package of new Duncan Hines Flour you get recipes and cooking secrets from America's famous eating places, together with step-by-step directions for preparing complete meals, especially adapted for home use. Look for... Duncan Hines Meal Plans in every sack of new Duncan Hines Flour.

NEW Duncan Hines Flour

"I've tasted the best baking in America" . . . says: Duncan Hines
AMERICA'S FOREMOST AUTHORITY ON GOOD EATING

"And during my years of eating in America's famous restaurants, I have learned that one of the secrets of truly fine baking is in the choice of flour.

"Knowing what a difference flour can make has led me to bring out my own—especially perfected for home baking. It is milled by a miller who practices the art of flour making—the same miller who makes all my cake mixes, buttermilk pancake mix and blueberry muffin mix.

"I hope you will try it. I think you will find it actually improves your baking results."

. . . milled to be a "flexible" flour that allows for variations in home baking conditions.

Remember how good hot breads and pastries have tasted in certain restaurants you've visited? Now the kind of flour that will make your baking remembered is here. A new flour, perfected to allow for those variations that are unavoidable in home baking . . . so sure to give you fine baking every time that Duncan Hines guarantees it (with a money-back offer) even under these conditions:

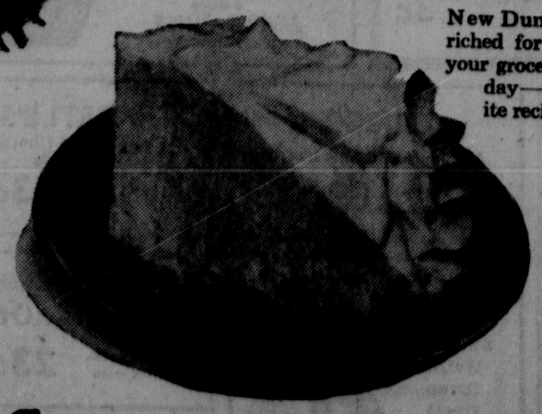
1. When you're interrupted by the doorbell, telephone or a household crisis, an ordinary flour is apt to "let you down"; your baking suffers in texture and lightness.
2. When your oven temperature isn't perfectly accurate you know what can happen. Your baking fails to rise right, or rises and then falls.

But not when you use new Duncan Hines Flour! Special highly skilled milling knowledge makes this a "flexible" flour. It adjusts to little variations in time and temperature because it's made of selected wheats . . . the kinds that perform best in the oven and work best with yeast, baking powder or soda. Your baking rises high and light, and holds that peak of perfection.

And don't worry about a little overmixing or undermixing. Naturally, you should follow your recipes exactly—but a few strokes more or less in beating or kneading won't alter the wonderful results you get.

Even tricky recipes are easy to handle with Duncan Hines Flour . . . sifted through silk to make it fine enough for the most delicate baking, yet it has the stamina needed for easy mixing and handling in any recipe.

New Duncan Hines Flour, enriched for extra nutrition, is at your grocer's now. Get a sack today—try it with your favorite recipes!



Now you can make Duncan Hines' Favorite Meals in your own home! In every package of new Duncan Hines Flour you get recipes and cooking secrets from America's famous eating places, together with step-by-step directions for preparing complete meals, especially adapted for home use. The making of good baking!

Kansas Favored, Huskers To Fight For Fourth In Big Seven Track

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Kansas to win for the third straight year with Missouri second and Colorado third.

That's how Coach Ed Weir of the University of Nebraska team predicts the Big Seven indoor Track and Field championships at the spacious city auditorium here tonight (prelims) and Saturday night (finals).

"The rest of the field, including Nebraska, will be bunched in a run for fourth place," added Prof. Weir. "If we duplicate our third-place showing of last year, I will be satisfied."

What his Husker squad lacks, says Weir, is a double event-winner like Don Bedker, who swept the hurdles in 1952 or Dan Tolman, who ruled both timber races last year.

"We need experience all along the line," sighed the Husker coach, who leads all Big Seven mentors with 10 Big Seven titles out of 30 possibles. "With a surprise point here and there, we could surprise."

The Huskers' two defending champions, Cliff Dale in the shot and Phil Heidelk in the high jump, appear to have the best chances of victory.

Dale's stiffest competition may come from another Husker, Ken Reiners, 195-pound Indianola junior, who tossed 51 feet 3 inches against Oklahoma last week. Dale's 51-2⅔ was a close second. Both marks are tops in the Big Seven for 1954 and are not far arrears Rollin Prather's indoor record of 52-4⅜.

Heidelk, who tied for first with Buzz Frazier of Kansas last year at 6-3, cleared 6-4 7/8 this winter against Iowa State.

Weir figures that Brien Hendrickson, Lincoln junior, has a chance for the 440 title.

"Brien has been steadily improving and seems stronger than he was last year," says Ed.

Hendrickson, who leads Big Seven quartermilers with a :50.9 clocking against Minnesota, expects his main competition from Bob Massengale of Missouri; Harry Lee and Phil Beeler of Oklahoma; Frank Cindrich of Kansas; Marvin Chiles of Kansas State and Vern Busse of Colorado. Massengale, who has hit :51.1, rates as the toughest of the lot.

Weir is hoping that Jon McWilliams, the soph handyman from Sidney, can pick up points in the hurdles and the broad jump. McWilliams has a 22-9 3/8 leap to his credit which, if duplicated, could put him high in the money.

Nebraska has a chance for points in the pole vault in Jim Hofsteter, Kearney junior. Hofsteter placed a year ago, but his 12-6¼ this winter has been below his 1953 efforts.

Kansas' all-around strength, led by a certain slam of the 880 and mile by fabled Wes Santee, should easily dominate.

Missouri appears to have balance enough for second with three potential winners in Frank Dickey, pole-vaulter; Ron Salmons, shot-putter, and Bill Constantine, hurdles. Dickey has climbed 14-¼.

Salmons has tossed the shot 50-5, which means he will be pushing the Huskers' Dale and Reiners.

Colorado's bid for third, has its top strength in the pole vault, broad jump, sprints and hurdles.

"The field events will be our real hope," concluded Weir, "but what we can pick up on the track will decide how high we'll go."

Santee, still in the good graces of the Big Seven although barred from the NCAA spring championships and AAU competition abroad because of violations, will attempt to erase his own mile and two-mile records. His assault will be the only serious threat on the archives, however, as individual brilliance this term is supplanted by team effort.

Santee will be gunning for these records:

1—The 4:05.3 mile indoor board (11 laps) record set by Gil Dodds at Madison Square Garden, New York, in 1948.

2—His own conference mark of 4:08.3 set last year.

3—His own big seven half-mile record of 1:51.2 made last year.

Santee established a new indoor mile for a dirt track in 4:04.9 at East Lansing, Mich., last week.

Of course if Santee should tie or whip the 4-minute mile then he will have broken every record for that distance in the world.

"Just say I'm shooting for the world indoor record on the boards of 4:05.3 set by Dodds," the cocky Kansan confided. "And of course my first object will be winning as many points as possible for Kansas."

The 12-lap boards in Municipal Auditorium offers a particularly difficult task for the 4-minute mile. Dodds made his indoor record on the 11-lap boards in Madison Square Garden, New York. Glenn Cunningham, another great Kansas miler, had to go only 6½ laps in a handicap race at Dartmouth University back in 1938. His mark is regarded as a separate record from Dodds.

In three seasons at Kansas, Santee has been clocked either officially or unofficially under 4:10 17 times.

Preliminaries tonight include the 880 yard run, in which Santee set the record last February; 60-yard dash, 60-yard high and low hurdles, 440-yard dash, shot put and the broad jump trials and finals.

The finals begin at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Syracuse Nearly Upset In Wesleyan 'C' Final

Late Rocket Rally Ends Milford's Bid, 37-34

Syracuse High's potent basketball team pulled away from upset-bound Milford in the last minute at Wesleyan Thursday night and won the Class C district tournament, 37-34.

The Rockets, rated at the top of the Class C field, blew a 10 point lead in the third quarter and slipped to 27-24.

A few minutes later Murdock was pressing at 30-28, then at 34-32 with 44 seconds left in the game.

Syracuse tried a stall and Milford fouled Dick Nannen in an attempt to get the ball. He hit twice and Brother Lyle Nannen dropped another free throw and the Rockets were ahead safely.

The game was marked by control play as Milford attempted to slow the fast Syracuse attack. The sucess of the underdogs was expressed by the fact that Syracuse was held to its lowest offensive total of the season and almost lost the game.

Lyle Nannen, the constant Syracuse leader, again was the best boy for the Rockets. His rebounding and floor play were excellent.

He also scored 17 points, six more than Milford's best scorer, Dick Hershberger.

It was Hershberger who closed the score to 30-28 with a lay-up with 6:35 left in the last quarter. Lyle Nannen made a free throw, Ray Ehlers added one and Berty Strong hit a set shot to lift Coach Joe Moss' Rockets back into a clear lead.

Dave Barker tapped in a follow shot for Milford and Hershberger shot one from the side to bring it to 34-32.

Then the Rockets resorted to that successful stall which fouled Milford out of the tournament.

Don Johnson scored 10 points for Syracuse while Dallas Kotil scored eight as did Barker.

Three Milford basketball players are only a few steps behind Syracuse's Don Johnson, but they will not reach the leaping Rocket in time to stop him. Johnson will bounce the ball off the board for two points and the Rockets will have added to their slim lead in the district finals at Wesleyan. Milford players are Dick Hershberger (16), Jack Zimmerman (24) and Dave Barker (15). (Star Photo)

The Firing Line

Will ex-Husker Bob Cerv make it with the New York Yankees this trip?

We are putting that oft-repeated question to Dan Daniel, who covers the Yankees for Sporting News. Writes Daniel:

Bob Cerv

There are eight outfielders other than Mantle on the Yankee roster. They include Hank Bauer in right, Gene Woodling in left and Irving Noren, first aid to the regular trio.

Then there are Bob Cerv, up for another crack at the job after a .317 season with Kansas City; Bill Virdon, .317 with Birmingham; Emil Tellinger, .316 with the same club; Artie Schult, .243 for Syracuse, and Elston Howard, .286 with Kansas City.

Mickey Mantle's knee trouble will afford wider opportunities for the new men. Cerv is definitely on the spot this spring. He has had his chances and has not capitalized on them. It's time for Casey to make up his mind about Cerv, and it's time for Bob to make up his mind which way he is headed in the Yankee organization.

The Yankees definitely have a place for Bob, now that Vic Power and Bill Renna have gone to the Athletics. But it behooves Cerv to convince himself that he is not being subjected to some legalistic kidding and that he is not already destined for return to Kansas City.

Last spring, Cerv came to spring training with the belief that he had no chance, and he was quite outspoken about that belief. He is big enough and strong enough to make a place for himself in the American League. But his power and size will avail him nothing if he doesn't revise his mental angle.

Firing Line note: Maybe that mental angle would be improved if the Yanks were to trade Cerv.

Today's form chart on the race for the University of Nebraska athletic directorship:

Tad Wieman, Denver—Showed strong national foot but scratched himself because of dislike for an uncertain track (at his age). A favorite until he dropped out.

Paul Amen, West Point—Has local backing, but may lack experience for such high stakes. The darkhorse.

Ray Eliot, Illinois—Scratched.

Okay, just what are they saying?

Lou Limmer, ex-home run king of Sherman Field—"I think I have my best chance with the Philadelphia A's this year, especially since Ferris Fain and Eddie Robinson are no longer around. I think I have overcome the physical anemia that bothered me with the A's in 1951. I weigh over 200 pounds now and feel fine."

Chick Evans, the old amateur golf star: "The greatest iron player was Tommy Armour, the greatest shotmaker with woods was Bobby Jones and the best of 'em all was Walter Hagen. Ben Hogan, with the greatest record of all, is purely mechanical. He has to build up to each meet by spending hour upon hour practicing. That's why he's so effective in the few tournaments he plays in."

Bob Zuppke, ex-Illinois coach when asked if Terry Brennan, new Notre Dame coach at 26, wasn't too young: "No. Mozart composed some of his best music when he was 9."

Overhauling THE NEWS

By WALLY DeBROWN

One of the important things in life is not how many troubles you have, but how you face them. Take Richard Kinney, a young man who will graduate from Mount Union College, Ohio this year at the age of 30.

Dick Kinney was born normal, but at the age of seven he lost his eye sight. He learned Braille, and he graduated from high school as class valedictorian.

Then in his sophomore year in college he suddenly went deaf. It was not until seven years later that he was able to return to college. What he did has recently received national publicity. With the help of fellow students who sat beside him and tapped messages on his hand, Dick went on. He will graduate at the top of his class. He has written two books of poetry, held a part-time job, and been busy in school activities. His story proves the point . . . trouble is how you take it.

A fellow making his first appearance as a prizefighter in Toronto Ontario, took one look at his opponent . . . and passed out. At least he can say the other fellow never laid a glove on him. Maybe you wonder about how to choose that used car, not knowing how many hard knocks it's taken. # Kansas Favored, Huskers To Fight For Fourth In Big Seven Track

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Kansas to win for the third straight year with Missouri second and Colorado third.

That's how Coach Ed Weir of the University of Nebraska team predicts the Big Seven indoor Track and Field championships at the spacious city auditorium here tonight (prelims) and Saturday night (finals).

"The rest of the field, including Nebraska, will be bunched in a run for fourth place," added Prof. Weir. "If we duplicate our third-place showing of last year, I will be satisfied."

What his Husker squad lacks, says Weir, is a double event-winner like Don Bedker, who swept the hurdles in 1952 or Dan Tolman, who ruled both timber races last year.

"We need experience all along the line," sighed the Husker coach, who leads all Big Seven mentors with 10 Big Seven titles out of 30 possibles. "With a surprise point here and there, we could surprise."

The Huskers' two defending champions, Cliff Dale in the shot and Phil Heidelk in the high jump, appear to have the best chances of victory.

Dale's stiffest competition may come from another Husker, Ken Reiners, 195-pound Indianola junior, who tossed 51 feet 3 inches against Oklahoma last week. Dale's 51-2⅔ was a close second. Both marks are tops in the Big Seven for 1954 and are not far arrears Rollin Prather's indoor record of 52-4⅜.

Heidelk, who tied for first with Buzz Frazier of Kansas last year at 6-3, cleared 6-4 7/8 this winter against Iowa State.

Weir figures that Brien Hendrickson, Lincoln junior, has a chance for the 440 title.

"Brien has been steadily improving and seems stronger than he was last year," says Ed.

Hendrickson, who leads Big Seven quartermilers with a :50.9 clocking against Minnesota, expects his main competition from Bob Massengale of Missouri; Harry Lee and Phil Beeler of Oklahoma; Frank Cindrich of Kansas; Marvin Chiles of Kansas State and Vern Busse of Colorado. Massengale, who has hit :51.1, rates as the toughest of the lot.

Weir is hoping that Jon McWilliams, the soph handyman from Sidney, can pick up points in the hurdles and the broad jump. McWilliams has a 22-9 3/8 leap to his credit which, if duplicated, could put him high in the money.

Nebraska has a chance for points in the pole vault in Jim Hofsteter, Kearney junior. Hofstetter placed a year ago, but his 12-6¼ this winter has been below his 1953 efforts.

Kansas' all-around strength, led by a certain slam of the 880 and mile by fabled Wes Santee, should easily dominate.

Missouri appears to have balance enough for second with three potential winners in Frank Dickey, pole-vaulter; Ron Salmons, shot-putter, and Bill Constantine, hurdles. Dickey has climbed 14-¼.

Salmons has tossed the shot 50-5, which means he will be pushing the Huskers' Dale and Reiners.

Colorado's bid for third, has its top strength in the pole vault, broad jump, sprints and hurdles.

"The field events will be our real hope," concluded Weir, "but what we can pick up on the track will decide how high we'll go."

Santee, still in the good graces of the Big Seven although barred from the NCAA spring championships and AAU competition abroad because of violations, will attempt to erase his own mile and two-mile records. His assault will be the only serious threat on the archives, however, as individual brilliance this term is supplanted by team effort.

Santee will be gunning for these records:

1—The 4:05.3 mile indoor board (11 laps) record set by Gil Dodds at Madison Square Garden, New York, in 1948.

2—His own conference mark of 4:08.3 set last year.

3—His own big seven half-mile record of 1:51.2 made last year.

Santee established a new indoor mile for a dirt track in 4:04.9 at East Lansing, Mich., last week.

Of course if Santee should tie or whip the 4-minute mile then he will have broken every record for that distance in the world.

"Just say I'm shooting for the world indoor record on the boards of 4:05.3 set by Dodds," the cocky Kansan confided. "And of course my first object will be winning as many points as possible for Kansas."

The 12-lap boards in Municipal Auditorium offers a particularly difficult task for the 4-minute mile. Dodds made his indoor record on the 11-lap boards in Madison Square Garden, New York. Glenn Cunningham, another great Kansas miler, had to go only 6½ laps in a handicap race at Dartmouth University back in 1938. His mark is regarded as a separate record from Dodds.

In three seasons at Kansas, Santee has been clocked either officially or unofficially under 4:10 17 times.

Preliminaries tonight include the 880 yard run, in which Santee set the record last February; 60-yard dash, 60-yard high and low hurdles, 440-yard dash, shot put and the broad jump trials and finals.

The finals begin at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Syracuse Nearly Upset In Wesleyan 'C' Final

Late Rocket Rally Ends Milford's Bid, 37-34

Syracuse High's potent basketball team pulled away from upset-bound Milford in the last minute at Wesleyan Thursday night and won the Class C district tournament, 37-34.

The Rockets, rated at the top of the Class C field, blew a 10 point lead in the third quarter and slipped to 27-24.

A few minutes later Murdock was pressing at 30-28, then at 34-32 with 44 seconds left in the game.

Syracuse tried a stall and Milford fouled Dick Nannen in an attempt to get the ball. He hit twice and Brother Lyle Nannen dropped another free throw and the Rockets were ahead safely.

The game was marked by control play as Milford attempted to slow the fast Syracuse attack. The sucess of the underdogs was expressed by the fact that Syracuse was held to its lowest offensive total of the season and almost lost the game.

Lyle Nannen, the constant Syracuse leader, again was the best boy for the Rockets. His rebounding and floor play were excellent.

He also scored 17 points, six more than Milford's best scorer, Dick Hershberger.

It was Hershberger who closed the score to 30-28 with a lay-up with 6:35 left in the last quarter. Lyle Nannen made a free throw, Ray Ehlers added one and Berty Strong hit a set shot to lift Coach Joe Moss' Rockets back into a clear lead.

Dave Barker tapped in a follow shot for Milford and Hershberger shot one from the side to bring it to 34-32.

Then the Rockets resorted to that successful stall which fouled Milford out of the tournament.

Don Johnson scored 10 points for Syracuse while Dallas Kotil scored eight as did Barker.

Only A Few Steps Late

Three Milford basketball players are only a few steps behind Syracuse's Don Johnson, but they will not reach the leaping Rocket in time to stop him. Johnson will bounce the ball off the board for two points and the Rockets will have added to their slim lead in the district finals at Wesleyan. Milford players are Dick Hershberger (16), Jack Zimmerman (24) and Dave Barker (15). (Star Photo)

Reynolds eliminated Hardy in the other tournament fray. With Chester out of the running, Reynolds is favored to cop the tourney championship. The final score was Reynolds 47, Hardy 33.

The Firing Line

Will ex-Husker Bob Cerv make it with the New York Yankees this trip?

We are putting that oft-repeated question to Dan Daniel, who covers the Yankees for Sporting News. Writes Daniel:

Bob Cerv

There are eight outfielders other than Mantle on the Yankee roster. They include Hank Bauer in right, Gene Woodling in left and Irving Noren, first aid to the regular trio.

Then there are Bob Cerv, up for another crack at the job after a .317 season with Kansas City; Bill Virdon, .317 with Birmingham; Emil Tellinger, .316 with the same club; Artie Schult, .243 for Syracuse, and Elston Howard, .286 with Kansas City.

Mickey Mantle's knee trouble will afford wider opportunities for the new men. Cerv is definitely on the spot this spring. He has had his chances and has not capitalized on them. It's time for Casey to make up his mind about Cerv, and it's time for Bob to make up his mind which way he is headed in the Yankee organization.

The Yankees definitely have a place for Bob, now that Vic Power and Bill Renna have gone to the Athletics. But it behooves Cerv to convince himself that he is not being subjected to some legalistic kidding and that he is not already destined for return to Kansas City.

Last spring, Cerv came to spring training with the belief that he had no chance, and he was quite outspoken about that belief. He is big enough and strong enough to make a place for himself in the American League. But his power and size will avail him nothing if he doesn't revise his mental angle.

Firing Line note: Maybe that mental angle would be improved if the Yanks were to trade Cerv.

Today's form chart on the race for the University of Nebraska athletic directorship:

Tad Wieman, Denver—Showed strong national feet but scratched himself because of dislike for an uncertain track (at his age). A favorite until he dropped out.

Paul Amen, West Point—Has local backing, but may lack experience for such high stakes. The darkhorse.

Bill Orwig, Michigan — A smoothie, he lacks mostly a national race under his belt. The also ran.

Ray Eliot, Illinois—Scratched.

Added entries—To be named. Look for reversal of form chart if added entry is found with experience on slippery, tricky track.

Okay, just what are they saying?

Lou Limmer, ex-home run king of Sherman Field—"I think I have my best chance with the Philadelphia A's this year, especially since Ferris Fain and Eddie Robinson are no longer around. I think I have overcome the physical anemia that bothered me with the A's in 1951. I weigh over 200 pounds now and feel fine."

Chick Evans, the old amateur golf star: "The greaetest iron player was Tommy Armour, the greatest shotmaker with woods was Bobby Jones and the best of 'em all was Walter Hagen. Ben Hogan, with the greatest record of all, is purely mechanical. He has to build up to each meet by spending hour upon hour practicing. That's why he's so effective in the few tournaments he plays in."

Bob Zuppke, ex-Illinois coach when asked if Terry Brennan, new Notre Dame coach at 26, wasn't too young: "No. Mozart composed some of his best music when he was 9."

Overhauling THE NEWS

By WALLY DeBROWN

One of the important things in life is not how many troubles you have, but how you face them. Take Richard Kinney, a young man who will graduate from Mount Union College, Ohio this year at the age of 30.

Dick Kinney was born normal, but at the age of seven he lost his eyesight. He learned Braille, and he graduated from high school as class valedictorian.

Then in his sophomore year in college he suddenly went deaf. It was not until seven years later that he was able to return to college. What he did has recently received national publicity. With the help of fellow students who sat beside him and tapped messages on his hand, Dick went on. He will graduate at the top of his class. He has written two books of poetry, held a part-time job, and been busy in school activities. His story proves the point . . . trouble is how you take it.

A fellow making his first appearance as a prizefighter in Toronto Ontario, took one look at his opponent . . . and passed out. At least he can say the other fellow never laid a glove on him. Maybe you wonder about how to choose that used car, not knowing how many hard knocks its taken. Well you can be sure that our dependable new car trade-ins have been gone over carefully by our expert mechanics. # Nat Holman Cleared Of Charges In Cage Scandal

NEW YORK (AP)—Nat Holman guiding genius of basketball at the College of the City of New York (CCNY) for 34 years, Thursday was cleared of charges which led to his suspension following the basketball scandals of 1951.

A three-man trial committee of the Board of Higher Education, in a 2-1 decision, found Holman innocent of charges of conduct unbecoming a teacher, constituting neglect of duty.

The committee recommended that Holman be reinstated as an associate professor of hygiene as of the date of his suspension, Nov 18, 1952.

The "fix" scandals involved seven players on Holman's 1950 CCNY team which won the NCAA and National Invitation Tournaments. Players from other colleges also were involved.

Holman's assistant, Harry (Bobby) Sand, unanimously was found guilty on two charges of conduct unbecoming a teacher The trial committee recommended one year's retroactive suspension for Sand and that he be reinstated as an instructor as of Nov. 18, 1953.

The trial committee's recommendations now go before a meeting of the full board on March 3. The board never has been known to upset the findings of any of its trial committees.

Holman declined to discuss his future pending the full board meeting He is eligible for a sizable pension should he choose to retire. He is 56.

The coach and his assistant faced a maximum penalty of dismissal with the loss of all pension and tenure rights

The committee trial which ended Dec. 1 lasted more than five months .

"I always had great confidence in the result of any investigation into my conduct as a coach of basketball," Holman said in a short formal statement. "For this reason I asked the public two years ago to reserve judgment until I had an opportunity to present my side of the story."

Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the trial committee, and John J. Morris signed the 35-page majority report. In a 40-page minority opinion Porter R. Chandler said he believed Holman was guilty of neglect of duty on certain counts but added: "The majority of the committee having voted to exonerate Holman on all charges, any recommendation with respect to him would be inappropriate."

The majority agreed that the veteran coach had urged the college to persuade newspapers from publishing point spreads; had warned his squad of the dangers of gambling; had no power to remove CCNY from Madison Square Garden; took precautions to protect his players; was a good strict coach who had the respect of his players and cooperated with a board investigating committee.

It added that "it is impossible for one to detect deliberate bad play on the part of any basketball player."

Sand was found guilty of "conspiring" in a letter to get a player to "play for pay" and of concealing this plan of payment from authorities

These charges involved a letter from Sand to Ed Warner, one of the players subsequently involved in the fixes, offering money to take part in a basketball tour of South America in the summer of 1950. The tour never was made.

Holman's record at CCNY shows 395 victories and 139 defeats

Third Contestant Enters First Base Battle

SARASOTA, Fla (AP)—A third contestant entered the battle for first base Thursday as the Boston Red Sox endured their longest session of pre season drills, a four period closely supervised by Manager Lou Boudreau.

Norbert Zauchin, a 6-4 right hander, sent along word that he has been discharged from the Army and will arrive Saturday to battle incumbent Dick Gernert, a righthander, and Harry Agganis, a lefthander, for the first base job.

Zauchin had a brief spring swing with the Sox two years ago and impressed them with his power. He played for Louisville the year before. He was called by Uncle Sam during pre-season drill.

In Thursday's session 14 pitchers threw to the batters Specially impressive were Bill Werle, Bill Henry, Willard Nixon and Sid Hudson.

"Every one of them threw hard except Joe Dobson, Leo Kiely and Tom Herrin and their condition forces me to plan a squad game," said Boudreau.

Northeast carries a 7-7 record into its game with highly-regarded Boys Town tonight. Last year the state champion Cowpokes defeated Northeast 56-40.

College View meets Ak-Sar-Ben opponent Bellevue at Irving. The Viewmen will be after their third win.

Cathedral goes to Omaha for a game with Holy Name, a team that beat the Bluebirds 65-42 earlier in the season and beat Teachers, 36-35, Tuesday night.

Tab Perez Over Vet Willie Pep

NEW YORK (AP)—Lulu Perez, a flashy, 20-year old boxer-puncher who was only nine years old when Willie Pep won the featherweight championship for the first time, is a slight favorite to beat the 31-year old veteran in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Although the ten rounder (9 p.m., CST) will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) coast to coast, there has been so much interest aroused in the youngster-veteran contest that the promoting International Boxing Club expects a crowd of around 9,000 and a gate of $30,000 or more.

Lou Viscusi, manager of Wily Willie, said: "It will do over $40,000. They've got a special train coming down from Connecticut for the first time in years. They all want to know if Willie still has anything left."

That's the intriguing lure of the fight. Has the Hartford boxing master enough stamina left to go a fast 10 rounds with the fleet youngster from Brooklyn? The betting favors Perez at 6-5.

Perez' manager, Andy Gregory, believes that Pep will fade after five rounds.

"He'll be dangerous, real dangerous for five," said Gregory. "He'll probably try to knock out Lulu within that time. But if he gets past five pep is going to get licked. Lulu is going to go right after him from the opening bell and make pep work. There'll be no rest for Willie."

Pep has won 19 fights in a row since he was stopped in six rounds by Tommy Collins of Boston last June.

Nat Holman Cleared Of Charges In Cage Scandal

NEW YORK (AP)—Nat Holman guiding genius of basketball at the College of the City of New York (CCNY) for 34 years, Thursday was cleared of charges which led to his suspension following the basketball scandals of 1951.

A three-man trial committee of the Board of Higher Education, in a 2-1 decision, found Holman innocent of charges of conduct unbecoming a teacher, constituting neglect of duty.

The committee recommended that Holman be reinstated as an associate professor of hygiene as of the date of his suspension, Nov. 18, 1952.

The "fix" scandals involved seven players on Holman's 1950 CCNY team which won the NCAA and National Invitation Tournaments. Players from other colleges also were involved.

Holman's assistant, Harry (Bobby) Sand, unanimously was found guilty on two charges of conduct unbecoming a teacher. The trial committee recommended one year's retroactive suspension for Sand and that he be reinstated as an instructor as of Nov. 18, 1953.

The trial committee's recommendations now go before a meeting of the full board on March 3. The board never has been known to upset the findings of any of its trial committees.

Holman declined to discuss his future pending the full board meeting. He is eligible for a sizable pension should he choose to retire. He is 56.

The coach and his assistant faced a maximum penalty of dismissal with the loss of all pension and tenure rights.

The committee trial which ended Dec. 1 lasted more than five months.

"I always had great confidence in the result of any investigation into my conduct as a coach of basketball," Holman said in a short formal statement. "For this reason I asked the public two years ago to reserve judgment until I had an opportunity to present my side of the story."

Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the trial committee, and John J. Morris signed the 35-page majority report. In a 40-page minority opinion Porter R. Chandler said he believed Holman was guilty of neglect of duty on certain counts but added: "The majority of the committee having voted to exonerate Holman on all charges, any recommendation with respect to him would be inappropriate."

The majority agreed that the veteran coach had urged the college to persuade newspapers from publishing point spreads; had warned his squad of the dangers of gambling; had no power to remove CCNY from Madison Square Garden; took precautions to protect his players; was a good strict coach who had the respect of his players and cooperated with a board investigating committee.

It added that "it is impossible for one to detect deliberate bad play on the part of any basketball player."

Sand was found guilty of "conspiring" in a letter to get a player to "play for pay" and of concealing this plan of payment from authorities.

These charges involved a letter from Sand to Ed Warner, one of the players subsequently involved in the fixes, offering money to take part in a basketball tour of South America in the summer of 1950. The tour never was made.

Holman's record at CCNY shows 395 victories and 139 defeats.

Third Contestant Enters First Base Battle

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—A third contestant entered the battle for first base Thursday as the Boston Red Sox endured their longest session of pre season drills, a four period closely supervised by Manager Lou Boudreau.

Norbert Zauchin, a 6-4 right hander, sent along word that he has been discharged from the Army and will arrive Saturday to battle incumbent Dick Gernert, a righthander, and Harry Agganis, a lefthander, for the first base job.

Zauchin had a brief spring swing with the Sox two years ago and impressed them with his power. He played for Louisville the year before. He was called by Uncle Sam during pre-season drill.

In Thursday's session 14 pitchers threw to the batters. Specially impressive were Bill Werle, Bill Henry, Willard Nixon and Sid Hudson.

"Every one of them threw hard except Joe Dobson, Leo Kiely and Tom Herrin and their condition forces me to plan a squad game," said Boudreau.

AlumsBeatJrHigh,83-54

Don Flynn and Bill Hoeppner led the grads with 28 points each. Neil hit 24 for the regulars.

It's the beginning of the end for Capital City high school basketball teams tonight.

Northeast, College View, Cathedral and Teachers play as the final week end of pre-district tournament play for the locals begins. Lincoln plays McCook and Cathedral meets College View Saturday.

Northeast carries a 7-7 record into its game with highly-regarded Boys Town tonight. Last year the state champion Cowpokes defeated Northeast 56-40.

College View meets Ak-Sar-Ben opponent Bellevue at Irving. The Viewmen will be after their third win.

Cathedral goes to Omaha for a game with Holy Name, a team that beat the Bluebirds 65-42 earlier in the season and beat Teachers, 36-35, Tuesday night.

Teachers hopes to hit the win trail again tonight after losing to the Ramblers. The Tutors are at Ashland and will be seeking their 14th win against one loss.

Wesleyan Closes Against Peru Team

Nebraska Wesleyan, winner of the Nebraska College Conference basketball championship for the second straight year, ends its regular season tonight against Peru State Teachers in a 7:30 p.m. game at Ira J. Taylor gymnasium.

Tab Perez Over Vet Willie Pep

NEW YORK (AP)—Lulu Perez, a flashy, 20-year old boxer-puncher who was only nine years old when Willie Pep won the featherweight championship for the first time, is a slight favorite to beat the 31-year old veteran in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Although the ten rounder (9 p.m., CST) will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) coast to coast, there has been so much interest aroused in the youngster-veteran contest that the promoting International Boxing Club expects a crowd of around 9,000 and a gate of $30,000 or more.

Lou Viscusi, manager of Wily Willie, said: "It will do over $40,000. They've got a special train coming down from Connecticut for the first time in years. They all want to know if Willie still has anything left."

That's the intriguing lure of the fight. Has the Hartford boxing master enough stamina left to go a fast 10 rounds with the fleet youngster from Brooklyn? The betting favors Perez at 6-5.

Perez' manager, Andy Gregory, believes that Pep will fade after five rounds.

"He'll be dangerous, real dangerous for five," said Gregory. "He'll probably try to knock out Lulu within that time. But if he gets past five pep is going to get licked. Lulu is going to go right after him from the opening bell and make pep work. There'll be no rest for Willie."

Pep has won 19 fights in a row since he was stopped in six rounds by Tommy Collins of Boston last June.

Six Vie For Bordogna's Spot

Petitioners Expected For Spring Ball

Two big questions face the University of Nebraska football coaching staff as Husker spring football drills begin Monday:

1. Will the varsity squad members and freshmen players who signed a petition asking for Head Coach Bill Glassford's resignation in January report for practice?

2. Who will step into the shoes of John Bordogna, Husker all-Big Seven quarterback who will be lost by graduation?

Nine of the players who are key men in Husker spring plans signed the anti-Glassford petition. Many petition signers indicated they would not play football at Nebraska unless Glassford resigned.

However, the peition signers are expected to report for the 20-day practice period which ends March 27.

In addition to the nine who are expected to fill important gaps in the Husker lineup (five of the nine are lettermen), several other signers are in strong contention for varsity squad berths.

Deciding who Bordogna's successor also involves the petition signers, three of whom are candidates for the position.

Rex Fischer of Oakland and Dan Brown of Sioux Falls, S.D., the only two quarterbacks with varsity experience, signed the petition. So did sophomore Gordon Englert of Sioux Falls, another quarterback candidate.

Fischer is aa junior and Brown a senior. Neither lettered last year. Others vying for the signal-calling spot are Don Erway of Lincoln, Don Margheim of Gering and Charles Smith of Franklin, N.H.

Erway, Margheim and Smith played freshman football last season. Erway, a former Lincoln High halfback, may make the switch to push Fischer and Brown for the job which Glassford sees as "our biggest problem."

In addition to Fischer, Brown and Englert six other petition signers are expected to fill key positions.

They are Guards Charlie Bryant of Omaha and Don Glantz of Central City; Tackle Max Kitzelman of Omaha; Halfback Bob Smith of Grand Island; Center Bob Oberlin of West Allis, Wis.; and Fullback John Edwards of North Platte.

Edwards, a junior is among the top candidates to replace the graduated Ray Novak at fullback. Kitzelman is a good choice to fill in for Nebraska's fine 1953 tackles, Jerry Minnick and Ted Connor, who will be lost by graduation.

Oberlin, Smith, Glantz, Kitzelman and Bryant lettered last year.

Other returning lettermen are Halfbacks Jon McWilliams, Sidney, and Dennis Korinek, Ulysses; End Andy Loehr, Turtle Creek, Pa.; and Guard Bob Wagner, Lincoln.

Letterman Ted Britt, North Platte center, also may get an additional year of competition. Ted was in long enough to kick one placement after touchdown in 1950 and was called into service. The Big Seven may extend his competition for a year because of the brief time he played before being tapped for Army duty.

Husker Baseball Team Plays 22 Contests In 40 Days

"Twenty-two games in forty days—it's the toughest schedule we've ever had."

That's the way Baseball Coach W. D. (Tony) Sharpe describes the coming University of Nebraska diamond season which opens April 9 at Tulsa and winds up May 18 at Missouri.

However, with an even dozen lettermen back, including a quartet of pitchers who combined for a record of 11 wins and only 3 defeats a year ago, Sharpe's problem this year will not be want of experienced hands.

Candidates for the Nebraska nine, which wound up second behind Oklahoma in the 1953 Big Seven Conference race, number 37.

This is the fourth week of workouts for those baseballers not out for other sports. Returning lettermen with batting averages or pitching won-lost records in parenthesis:

Catchers — Murray Backhaus, Millard (.254); Bob Lohrberg, Lincoln (.194).

Infielders—Bill Giles, Hannibal, Mo. (283); Virgil Gottsch, Elkhorn (.343); Clair Mallette, Hooper (.217); Ray Novak, Omaha (.308); Dirkes Rolston, Forsyth, Mont. (.254), Fred Seger, Omaha (.259).

Outfielders — Jim Cederdahl, Lincoln (.338); Dick Christoph, Glencoe, Ill. (.182).

Pitchers—Fran Hofmaier, Allenton Wis. (3-1); Mallette (0-1); Novak (6-0); Charles Wright, Scottsbluff (2-1).

Non-lettermen returnees include Don Becker, Lincoln outfielder; Dennis Korinek, Ulysses outfielder; Dick Olson, Axtell outfielder.

Missing this season will be Dick (Pinky) McCormick, Silver Creek fireman who made a dozen mound relief appearances in 1953; Outfielder Jerry Dunn, Stoughton, Mass.; and Second Baseman Bob Reynolds, Grand Island, who suffered a broken leg in the eighth game of the season.

Giles, who may be switched to the outfield as a replacement for Dunn, lettered here in 1952. He was not eligible to complete last year. Lohrberg was the Huskers' regular backstop in 1951, and is back after a hitch in the army.

Top contenders among newcomers for jobs with the first nine are Don Brown, Omaha infielder; Dick Cecil, Lincoln outfielder; Infielder Norman Coufal, David City; Pitcher Dick Geier, Lincoln; and Chuck Smith; Anderson, Ind., twirler.

Others already out for baseball or expected to report:

Bevo Can't Play, Rio Grande Game With Creighton Off

OMAHA (AP) — The scheduled basketball game here Monday night between Creighton and Rio Grande College was cancelled Thursday when it was learned that Rio Grande's Bevo Francis will be unable to play that soon.

Creighton Athletic Director Duce Belford announced that the game was called off after being informed by Newt Oliver, Rio Grande Coach, that Bevo's ankle injury, suffered in a game with Ashland, O., College Tuesday night would keep him out of the game.

Belford said the game might be rescheduled at a later date but only if Francis can appear with his teammates.

Creighton officials faced two complications as a result of this cancellation.

The Omaha University Field House will not be available on a subsequent date and Creighton's gymnasium will not hold the crowds expected to see the high scoring Bevo in action.

Furthermore, nearly 4,000 tickets have been sold for the game. Creighton officials said that starting Monday they would make refunds to any ticket holders who desire them.

BYU Turns Down Bid

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Brigham Young University said Thursday it has turned down a bid to the National Invitational Basketball tournament in New York.

Bratton Suspended For Poor Performance Against Saxton

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Johnny Bratton former welterweight champion accused of an "unsatisfactory showing" in losing a one-sided decision to Johnny Saxton in their nationally televised fight Wednesday night was suspended Thursday by the Pennsylvania state athletic commission.

At the same time, boxing commissioners George Jones and John Holahan tied up $4,770 of Bratton's purse pending a full-dress hearing March 10, when Chairman Frank Wiener will be back from a winter vacation.

Bratton and his manager, Hymie Wallman, admitted it was "a bad fight." They argued, however, that it was Saxton who made the bout look bad by "pushing in" and "clinching."

Said Bratton: "I fought the best way I could and it isn't my fault that the crowd wasn't pleased. This boy Saxton has been thrown out of rings before because he holds on and refuses to let the other guy get off a punch. I wanted to fight. I'm a boxer. I tried to fight as good as I know. I wasn't laying back."

To this Holahan replied: "I admire you for your honesty."

Bratton was to have received $8,770 all told for the fight, which included $4,000 as his TV share. Before the bout, he had been advanced $2,200 by promoter Herman Taylor and about $1,500 more was tied up in a court injunction by Robert Richards, of New York, who said Bratton owed him money for training expenses.

Saxton was scored the victor, nine rounds to one, on the cards both judges and the referee.

Meantime, State Sen. H. Jerome Jaspan, a Philadelphia Democrat, called on Gov. John S. Fine, a Republican, to remove Jones a commissioner.

"Jones stood by and permitted the most disgraceful exhibition of boxing in Philadelphia between Saxton and Bratton without taking a hand. The fight should have been stopped in the early rounds and declared 'no contest.'"

Six Vie For Bordogna's Spot

Petitioners Expected For Spring Ball

Two big questions face the University of Nebraska football coaching staff as Husker spring football drills begin Monday:

1. Will the varsity squad members and freshmen players who signed a petition asking for Head Coach Bill Glassford's resignation in January report for practice?

2. Who will step into the shoes of John Bordogna, Husker all-Big Seven quarterback who will be lost by graduation?

Nine of the players who are key men in Husker spring plans signed the anti-Glassford petition. Many petition signers indicated they would not play football at Nebraska unless Glassford resigned.

However, the peition signers are expected to report for the 20-day practice period which ends March 27.

In addition to the nine who are expected to fill important gaps in the Husker lineup (five of the nine are lettermen), several other signers are in strong contention for varsity squad berths.

Deciding who Bordogna's successor also involves the petition signers, three of whom are candidates for the position.

Rex Fischer of Oakland and Dan Brown of Sioux Falls, S.D., the only two quarterbacks with varsity experience, signed the petition. So did sophomore Gordon Englert of Sioux Falls, another quarterback candidate.

Fischer is aa junior and Brown a senior. Neither lettered last year. Others vying for the signal-calling spot are Don Erway of Lincoln, Don Margheim of Gering and Charles Smith of Franklin, N.H.

Erway, Margheim and Smith played freshman football last season. Erway, a former Lincoln High halfback, may make the switch to push Fischer and Brown for the job which Glassford sees as "our biggest problem."

In addition, to Fischer, Brown and Englert six other petition signers are expected to fill key positions.

They are Guards Charlie Bryant of Omaha and Don Glantz of Central City; Tackle Max Kitzelman of Omaha; Halfback Bob Smith of Grand Island; Center Bob Oberlin of West Allis, Wis.; and Fullback John Edwards of North Platte.

Edwards, a junior is among the top candidates to replace the graduated Ray Novak at fullback. Kitzelman is a good choice to fill in for Nebraska's fine 1953 tackles, Jerry Minnick and Ted Connor, who will be lost by graduation.

Oberlin, Smith, Glantz, Kitzelman and Bryant lettered last year.

Other returning lettermen are Halfbacks Jon McWilliams, Sidney, and Dennis Korinek, Ulysses; End Andy Loehr, Turtle Creek, Pa.; and Guard Bob Wagner, Lincoln.

Letterman Ted Britt, North Platte center, also may get an additional year of competition. Ted was in long enough to kick one placement after touchdown in 1950 and was called into service. The Big Seven may extend his competition for a year because of the brief time he played before being tapped for Army duty.

Husker Baseball Team Plays 22 Contests In 40 Days

"Twenty-two games in forty days—it's the toughest schedule we've ever had."

That's the way Baseball Coach W. D. (Tony) Sharpe describes the coming University of Nebraska diamond season which opens April 9 at Tulsa and winds up May 18 at Missouri.

However, with an even dozen lettermen back, including a quartet of pitchers who combined for a record of 11 wins and only 3 defeats a year ago, Sharpe's problem this year will not be want of experienced hands.

Candidates for the Nebraska nine, which wound up second behind Oklahoma in the 1953 Big Seven Conference race, number 37.

This is the fourth week of workouts for those baseballers not out for other sports. Returning lettermen with batting averages or pitching won-lost records in parenthesis:

Catchers — Murray Backhaus, Millard (.254); Bob Lohrberg, Lincoln (.194).

Infielders—Bill Giles, Hannibal, Mo. (283); Virgil Gottsch, Elkhorn (.343); Clair Mallette, Hooper (.217); Ray Novak, Omaha (.308); Dirkes Rolston, Forsyth, Mont. (.254), Fred Seger, Omaha (.259).

Outfielders — Jim Cederdahl, Lincoln (.338); Dick Christoph, Glencoe, Ill. (.182).

Pitchers—Fran Hofmaier, Allenton Wis. (3-1); Mallette (0-1); Novak (6-0); Charles Wright, Scottsbluff (2-1).

Non-lettermen returnees include Don Becker, Lincoln outfielder; Dennis Korinek, Ulysses outfielder; Dick Olson, Axtell outfielder.

Missing this season will be Dick (Pinky) McCormick, Silver Creek fireman who made a dozen mound relief appearances in 1953; Outfielder Jerry Dunn, Stoughton, Mass.; and Second Baseman Bob Reynolds, Grand Island, who suffered a broken leg in the eighth game of the season.

Giles, who may be switched to the outfield as a replacement for Dunn, lettered here in 1952. He was not eligible to complete last year. Lohrberg was the Huskers' regular backstop in 1951, and is back after a hitch in the army.

Top contenders among newcomers for jobs with the first nine are Don Brown, Omaha infielder; Dick Cecil, Lincoln outfielder; Infielder Norman Coufal, David City; Pitcher Dick Geier, Lincoln; and Chuck Smith; Anderson, Ind., twirler.

Others already out for baseball or expected to report:

Bevo Can't Play, Rio Grande Game With Creighton Off

OMAHA (AP) — The scheduled basketball game here Monday night between Creighton and Rio Grande College was cancelled Thursday when it was learned that Rio Grande's Bevo Francis will be unable to play that soon.

Creighton Athletic Director Duce Belford announced that the game was called off after being informed by Newt Oliver, Rio Grande Coach, that Bevo's ankle injury, suffered in a game with Ashland, O., College Tuesday night would keep him out of the game.

Belford said the game might be rescheduled at a later date but only if Francis can appear with his teammates.

Creighton officials faced two complications as a result of this cancellation.

The Omaha University Field House will not be available on a subsequent date and Creighton's gymnasium will not hold the crowds expected to see the high scoring Bevo in action.

Furthermore, nearly 4,000 tickets have been sold for the game. Creighton officials said that starting Monday they would make refunds to any ticket holders who desire them.

Bratton Suspended For Poor Performance Against Saxton

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Johnny Bratton former welterweight champion accused of an "unsatisfactory showing" in losing a one-sided decision to Johnny Saxton in their nationally televised fight Wednesday night was suspended Thursday by the Pennsylvania state athletic commission.

At the same time, boxing commissioners George Jones and John Holahan tied up $4,770 of Bratton's purse pending a full-dress hearing March 10, when Chairman Frank Wiener will be back from a winter vacation.

Bratton and his manager, Hymie Wallman, admitted it was "a bad fight." They argued, however, that it was Saxton who made the bout look bad by "pushing in" and "clinching."

Said Bratton: "I fought the best way I could and it isn't my fault that the crowd wasn't pleased. This boy Saxton has been thrown out of rings before because he holds on and refuses to let the other guy get off a punch. I wanted to fight. I'm a boxer. I tried to fight as good as I know. I wasn't laying back."

To this Holahan replied: "I admire you for your honesty."

Bratton was to have received $8,770 all told for the fight, which included $4,000 as his TV share. Before the bout, he had been advanced $2,200 by promoter Herman Taylor and about $1,500 more was tied up in a court injunction by Robert Richards, of New York, who said Bratton owed him money for training expenses.

Lincoln Hospitals Are Acting To Prevent Practice Of Doctors' Fee-Splitting

By BILL DOBBLER
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln physicians have exerted a unified effort to come forth with stringent laws to prevent here the nationally decried practice of fee splitting among their ranks.

While beginning work on the problem at nearly the same time, Lincoln General Hospital was the first of three hospitals here to have such preventive laws in its constitution and by-laws. The new construction adopted by the board of directors of Lincoln General, upon recommendation of its medical staff, covers both fee splitting and the related problem of unnecessary operations.

The Lincoln General law requires all staff members to sign a pledge to adhere to the requirements of the constitution in regard to both issues. To prevent fee splitting, staff members are required to pledge themselves "not to receive from or pay to another physician, either directly or indirectly, any part of a fee received for professional services.

"On the contrary," reads the constitution, "it shall be agreed that all fees shall be collected and retained by the individual physician in accordance with the value of services rendered.

Books Available

"Each staff member shall agree to make his financial books available to a certified public accountant representing and employed by the medical staff for the purpose of proving his adherence to the code. Such scrutiny shall be carried out upon the majority vote of the attending members of the department in which the violation is suspected and the matter shall then be referred to the credentials and executive committee for definite action."

A similar type of regulation has been written in to the constitution of the Bryan Memorial Hospital and given preliminary approval by the staff committee. The regulation will become final in 30 days.

St. Elizabeth Hospital is in the process of drafting a new constitution which should be completed in about a month. The principle of fee splitting, according to Dr. A. L. Smith Jr., chief of staff at St. Elizabeth, is opposed, of course.

There are various ways of handling the problem, however, he said, and some of the cures can be abusive. There is little doubt, he said, that some such code against fee splitting will be adopted at St. Elizabeth shortly.

According to Dr. Harold S. Morgan, chief of staff at Lincoln General, the fee splitting code is a product of the thinking of all Lincoln physicians. While the problem is definitely not serious in Lincoln, he said, this code will prevent it from becoming so.

New Code

Also, he said, the new code should eliminate the few cases of fee splitting that might be carried on.

The common type of fee splitting involves the referring of a patient from one doctor to another and a kick-back or payment from the final attending physician to the doctor who had first contact with the patient. The practice has been widely criticized in national magazines as it reportedly exists in some sections of the country.

The problem of fee splitting was described as non-existant at Bailey's Sanatorium and the Olney Clinic Hospital.

"We operate on a code of ethics," said Dr. R. C. Olney, "that keeps everything open and above board. We have never practiced fee splitting."

"We don't approve of fee splitting," said Dr. May L. Flanagan, superintendent at Bailey's, "and do not have any of it. I doubt if there is any fee splitting in any Lincoln hospitals."

The new Lincoln General constitution also establishes a tissue committee whose function is to review case histories on certain operations to determine the necessity of such surgery and to stop needless operations. This committee, a repetition of the one which has been officially functioning at Bryan Memorial for the past month, reviews the following type of cases:

1. Operations involving reproductive organs.
2. Appendectomies.
3. Cases where the hospital pathologist reports minimal or no pathology.
4. Cases where there is a marked discrepancy between the pre-operative and post-operative diagnosis.
5. Emergency surgery.
6. Cases where tissue is not removed and where an incision is closed without consummation of definite surgery.

This does not mean, according to Dr. Harold Morgan, chief of staff at Lincoln General, that a physician must be right on every diagnosis. Many exploratory operations, he said, are justified even though the diagnosis before surgery may prove to be incorrect.

St. Elizabeth Hospital has had a tissue committee in operation for the past 10 months, according to Dr. Smith. The committee reports, he said, go to the record committee and pathologist.

If any discrepancies or mistakes are found, he said, the case is referred to the Hospital executive committee. Executive committee action, however, has never been necessary, said Dr. Smith.

The action taken by Lincoln General on fee splitting was praised by Dr. Everett E. Angle, president of the Lancaster County Medical Association.

"It is a right move," he said, "and shows the doctors are doing everything to protect the patient's best interest. It is more to reassure the public that that type of fee splitting is a very negligible matter here in Lincoln.

"This should further impress the public of this locality that doctors do not condone or tolerate any fee splitting in our surgical circles."

5,000 Autos Needed Daily To Make Turnpike Profitable

Chairman Raymond McGrath of Omaha reported Thursday to the Turnpike Authority on information he received while visiting the Illinois and Iowa authorities. He was optimistic on the chances of Nebraska being considered in national turnpike plans.

However, he presented figures from a turnpike engineering firm showing that it would require travel by 5,000 vehicles daily to make profitable at an average of three cents toll per mile construction of a four lane turnpike for which the average cost is $600,000 per mile.

Records of the highway commission on automatic counters over the state show that no highway carries near this average of traffic. The U. S. 30 traffic, averages only slightly over 3,000 vehicles per day.

Primarily discussions have given consideration to a toll road, if built, to parallel either U. S. 30 or U. S. 6. High cost of turnpikes it is explained are due to need of purchasing right-of-way and the large number of overpasses at road crossings. Overpasses would be needed nearly every mile in the eastern half of the state.

Wyoming showed less interest in turnpikes than other states. Their program is being built on freeways across the state. Colorado indicated willingness to cooperate as they plan a tunnel to attract traffic through that state.

McGrath told the authority that in his opinion after discussions with other states that Nebraska is "marginal" as to whether a toll road would be economically feasible.

The authority decided to have a member attend a turnpike seminar to be held by the National Turnpike Association in Chicago on March 3. A delegate will also attend a national meeting in Miami, Fla., where Illinois, Ia., Colorado and Nebraska will meet to consider plans to coordinate their toll road activities.

McGrath said he found sentiment in Illinois favorable to an extension of the Indians turnpike west to Davenport, Ia. rather than the reported southern route toward St. Louis. It was explained that a freeway now extends from Chicago to within 50 miles of St. Louis which is four-lane and of modern construction.

Such an extension would permit Iowa to continue through Des Moines and on west to Nebraska.

The authority also plans to attend a meeting in Indiana where mid-western states will discuss toll road plans

"Each staff member shall agree to make his financial books available to a certified public accountant representing and employed by the medical staff for the purpose of proving his adherence to the code. Such scrutiny shall be carried out upon the majority vote of the attending members of the department in which the violation is suspected and the matter shall then be referred to the credentials and executive committee for definite action."

A similar type of regulation has been written in to the constitution of the Bryan Memorial Hospital and given preliminary approval by the staff committee. The regulation will become final in 30 days.

St. Elizabeth Hospital is in the process of drafting a new constitution which should be completed in about a month. The principle of fee splitting, according to Dr. A. L. Smith Jr., chief of staff at St. Elizabeth, is opposed, of course.

There are various ways of handling the problem, however, he said, and some of the cures can be abusive. There is little doubt, he said, that some such code against fee splitting will be adopted at St. Elizabeth shortly.

According to Dr. Harold S. Morgan, chief of staff at Lincoln General, the fee splitting code is a product of the thinking of all Lincoln physicians. While the problem is definitely not serious in Lincoln, he said, this code will prevent it from becoming so.

New Code

Also, he said, the new code should eliminate the few cases of fee splitting that might be carried on.

The common type of fee splitting involves the referring of a patient from one doctor to another and a kick-back or payment from the final attending physician to the doctor who had first contact with the patient. The practice has been widely criticized in national magazines as it reportedly exists in some sections of the country.

The problem of fee splitting was described as non-existant at Bailey's Sanatorium and the Olney Clinic Hospital.

"We operate on a code of ethics," said Dr. R. C. Olney, "that keeps everything open and above board. We have never practiced fee splitting."

"We don't approve of fee splitting," said Dr. May L. Flanagan, superintendent at Bailey's, "and do not have any of it. I doubt if there is any fee splitting in any Lincoln hospitals."

The new Lincoln General constitution also establishes a tissue committee whose function is to review case histories on certain operations to determine the necessity of such surgery and to stop needless operations. This committee, a repetition of the one which has been officially functioning at Bryan Memorial for the past month, reviews the following type of cases:

1. Operations involving reproductive organs.
2. Appendectomies.
3. Cases where the hospital pathologist reports minimal or no pathology.
4. Cases where there is a marked discrepancy between the pre-operative and post-operative diagnosis.
5. Emergency surgery.
6. Cases where tissue is not removed and where an incision is closed without consummation of definite surgery.

This does not mean, according to Dr. Harold Morgan, chief of staff at Lincoln General, that a physician must be right on every diagnosis. Many exploratory operations, he said, are justified even though the diagnosis before surgery may prove to be incorrect.

St. Elizabeth Hospital has had a tissue committee in operation for the past 10 months, according to Dr. Smith. The committee reports, he said, go to the record committee and pathologist.

If any discrepancies or mistakes are found, he said, the case is referred to the Hospital executive committee. Executive committee action, however, has never been necessary, said Dr. Smith.

The action taken by Lincoln General on fee splitting was praised by Dr. Everett E. Angle, president of the Lancaster County Medical Association.

"It is a right move," he said, "and shows the doctors are doing everything to protect the patient's best interest. It is more to reassure the public that that type of fee splitting is a very negligible matter here in Lincoln.

"This should further impress the public of this locality that doctors do not condone or tolerate any fee splitting in our surgical circles."

5,000 Autos Needed Daily To Make Turnpike Profitable

Chairman Raymond McGrath of Omaha reported Thursday to the Turnpike Authority on information he received while visiting the Illinois and Iowa authorities. He was optimistic on the chances of Nebraska being considered in national turnpike plans.

However, he presented figures from a turnpike engineering firm showing that it would require travel by 5,000 vehicles daily to make profitable at an average of three cents toll per mile construction of a four lane turnpike for which the average cost is $600,000 per mile.

Records of the highway commission on automatic counters over the state show that no highway carries near this average of traffic. The U. S. 30 traffic, averages only slightly over 3,000 vehicles per day.

Primarily discussions have given consideration to a toll road, if built, to parallel either U. S. 30 or U. S. 6. High cost of turnpikes it is explained are due to need of purchasing right-of-way and the large number of overpasses at road crossings. Overpasses would be needed nearly every mile in the eastern half of the state.

Wyoming showed less interest in turnpikes than other states. Their program is being built on freeways across the state. Colorado indicated willingness to cooperate as they plan a tunnel to attract traffic through that state.

McGrath told the authority that in his opinion after discussions with other states that Nebraska is "marginal" as to whether a toll road would be economically feasible.

The authority decided to have a member attend a turnpike seminar to be held by the National Turnpike Association in Chicago on March 3. A delegate will also attend a national meeting in Miami, Fla., where Illinois, Ia., Colorado and Nebraska will meet to consider plans to coordinate their toll road activities.

McGrath said he found sentiment in Illinois favorable to an extension of the Indians turnpike west to Davenport, Ia. rather than the reported southern route toward St. Louis. It was explained that a freeway now extends from Chicago to within 50 miles of St. Louis which is four-lane and of modern construction.

Such an extension would permit Iowa to continue through Des Moines and on west to Nebraska.

The authority also plans to attend a meeting in Indiana where mid-western states will discuss toll road plans

Coach Is Fined $25

Aftermath Of York, Norfolk Game Row

YORK, Neb. (AP)—Warren Best, Norfolk High School basketball coach arrested here Jan. 30 after a disturbance at the Norfolk-York basketball game, was found guilty of disturbing the peace Thursday.

York County Judge Herman Glock fined him $25 and costs.

A second count charging assault on an officer was dismissed by County Attorney John Zeilinger.

The two charges were filed against Best following a basketball game between York and Norfolk Jan. 30 that ended in a disturbance.

Best and a Norfolk player, David Wilson, were arraigned in court early Sunday morning, Jan. 31, following the game. Each pleaded innocent and was released on $100 bond.

No action was taken Thursday in Wilson's case. He also is charged with disturbing the peace and assault on an officer.

Wilson was accused of striking Deputy Sheriff Joe Blair and Best of jumping on Sheriff Lewis Ekart's back as the Norfolk team was being escorted from the floor following a disturbance at the end of the game.

Observers said tension mounted throughout the game, won by York, 73-29, and officers were on hand and prepared for trouble when the final gun sounded. The two schools are not reguarly scheduled basketball opponents.

Tax Board Sets Vehicle Meeting

The State Equalization Board will meet next week to consider the motor vehicle assessment guide prepared by the tax commissioner's office for use in computing 1955 motor vehicle taxes.

Copies of the guide also have been delivered to the county assessors for public inspection.

Tax Commissioners George Peterson said any complaints should be filed in writing at his office not later than March 10.

Complainants may appear to support objections at a hearing to be held after March 10, Peterson added.

Preparation of the assessment guide a year in advance is provided for under the "pay-as-you-go" motor vehicle tax act passed by the 1953 Legislature.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

New Crop Wheat Hits Season High

CHICAGO (AP)—High winds with some dust in the air over parts of Kansas kicked up a little demand for wheat on the Board of Trade Thursday, helping to send new crop futures to new seasonal highs.

Wheat was just about alone in making forward progress. Old crop soybeans contracts, recent favorites along with wheat, succumbed to a little profit taking. They didn't lose much ground, however, and the new crop months advanced.

Wheat closed ⅝ to 1 cent higher, corn unchanged to ⅝ lower, oats 1 cent lower to ⅛ higher, rye ⅝ to 1 cent lower, soybeans 2½ lower to 1 cent higher and lard 5 to 17 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Dust was reported in the air over sections of western Kansas at the start of trading. Later, the Weather Bureau said the high winds appeared to be dying down News dispatches emphasized the damage to wheat in eastern Colorado from recent dust storms.

The situation regarding the winter wheat crop is very confusing at the moment to everyone in the grain trade Carrill, Inc, big Minneapolis firm, commented. "The imminent possibilities range from a large crop to a virtual crop failure."

The firm added, "Chiseling, a tillage operation frequently done to control blowing, has been most ineffective this year, because of the powdery nature of the soil This condition has resulted from the frequent freezing and thawing this winter."

Old crop wheat futures were sustained by developments in the export picture Holland purchased 150,000 bushels of wheat, West Germany and Yugoslavia were expected in the market and the Foreign Operations Administration granted $1,007,000 to Korea to buy bread grains

While old crop soybean futures eased they gave no sign of any sharp break Soybean meal again forged to a new 1954 high at $83 00 to $84 00 a ton but soybean oil was little lower Japan bought an estimated 1,200,000 bushels of soybeans

Austria bought 2,160,000 bushels of corn but it had no influence on the futures market It was believed the grain came from government stocks and the government does not hedge its supplies in the futures pit Meanwhile, cash corn receipts were large at 176 cars

Stock Mart Ends With Brisk Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market snapped off a three-day decline Thursday with an advance that started cautiously and ended with a smart rally.

There were many individual points of strength as well as group areas of firmness in the market.

Gains ran to around 2 points at the best with a few stocks going past that level on their own.

The turn around Thursday after three backward sessions apparently got its inspiration Wednesday afternoon when the market started a good recovery movement from its low

New Crop Wheat Hits Season High

CHICAGO (AP)—High winds with some dust in the air over parts of Kansas kicked up a little demand for wheat on the Board of Trade Thursday, helping to send new crop futures to new seasonal highs.

Wheat was just about alone in making forward progress. Old crop soybeans contracts, recent favorites along with wheat, succumbed to a little profit taking. They didn't lose much ground, however, and the new crop months advanced.

Wheat closed ⅝ to 1 cent higher, corn unchanged to ⅝ lower, oats 1 cent lower to ⅛ higher, rye ⅝ to 1 cent lower, soybeans 2½ lower to 1 cent higher and lard 5 to 17 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Dust was reported in the air over sections of western Kansas at the start of trading. Later, the U.S. Weather Bureau said the high winds appeared to be dying down. News dispatches emphasized the damage to wheat in eastern Colorado from recent dust storms.

The situation regarding the winter wheat crop is very confusing at the moment to everyone in the grain trade, Cargill, Inc., big Minneapolis firm, commented. "The iminent possibilities range from a large crop to a virtual crop failure."

The firm added, "Chiseling, a tillage operation frequently done to control blowing, has been most ineffective this year, because of the powdery nature of the soil. This condition has resulted from the frequent freezing and thawing this winter."

Old crop wheat futures were sustained by developments in the export picture. Holland purchased 150,000 bushels of wheat, West Germany and Yugoslavia were expected in the market and the Foreign Operations Administration granted $1,007,000 to Korea to buy bread grains.

While old crop soybean futures eased they gave no sign of any sharp break. Soybean meal again forged to a new 1954 high at $83.00 to $84.00 a ton but soybean oil was a little easier. Japan bought an estimated 200,000 bushels of soybeans.

Austria bought 2,160,000 bushels of corn but it had no influence on the futures market. It was believed the grain came from government stocks and the government does not hedge its supplies in the futures pit. Meanwhile, cash corn receipts were large at 176 cars.

COOPER MILLS

Stock Mart Ends With Brisk Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market snapped off a three-day decline Thursday with an advance that started cautiously and ended with a smart rally.

There were many individual points of strength as well as group areas of firmness in the market.

Gains ran to around 2 points at the best with a few stocks going past that level on their own.

The turn around Thursday after three backward sessions apparently got its inspiration Wednesday afternoon when the market started a good recovery movement from its low.
